FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE—

The 7th Air Division
BY MAJ. GEN. JOHN P. McCONNELL
Commanding General

THE 7th Air Division has the interesting distinction—at least to military men—of being the only organization of its precise type in the U. S. Air Force. It is an organization designed to fit unusual needs in a particular situation.

Fundamentally, the 7th AD is a major subordinate command under the Strategic Air Command, but by virtue of its location in the United Kingdom is dependent upon the Third Air Force (under USAFE) for logistical support, the setting of over-all administrative theater policy, and for channels of action in such matters as concern the British Air Ministry.

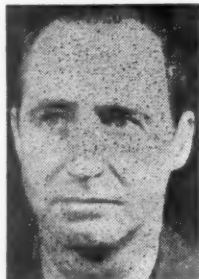

The 7th AD presently has four main bases under its command in England, where SAC medium bomber and reconnaissance units receive training under a TDY rotational arrangement. The TDY unit comes from a SAC base in the ZI, spends about 90 days at one of the 7th Air Division stations in England and then returns to its home base. While under the operational control of the 7th AD, the TDY unit is supported by a 7th AD air base group organization composed of permanent party personnel serving normally a three-year tour of duty.

The SAC rotational units while in the United Kingdom receive a wide variety of tactical training with many aspects that would be most difficult, if not impossible to obtain, in the ZI. The aircrews are familiarized with airdromes, geographical areas, weather, navigational facilities and the like different than normally encountered elsewhere.

It is interesting to note that TDY units which rotate to England transport a minimum amount of equipment, and function with minimum administrative staffs. Thus there is an extra dividend paid on the training they receive by reason of the lessons learned in getting a job done under austere conditions.

While provision is made for the physical well-being and recreation of the TDY units, the normal three-month tour of the rotational organization is far from a vacation junket to Merrie England. The training program is precise and intensive. The requirements are designed with maximum accomplishments in mind, rather than minimum quotas.

Air Force Promotions

There were indications late this week that the names of Air Force officers selected for temporary advancement to colonel and lieutenant colonel will be released before the end of the month—possibly next week.

Shortly thereafter, names of selections to temporary major and captain will be made available.

Sec. Pace Sees Greater Use of Aircraft by Army

Intensive studies of World War II and the Korean conflict have convinced the Army that it must exploit the air to a greater extent than ever before, Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., declared this week.

Mr. Pace spoke 15 May at the Honors Night Dinner given by the American Helicopter Society in connection with its four-day 8th Annual Forum in Washington, D. C.

The Army Secretary pointed out that aircraft can extend and augment the fighting power of the ground soldier in three ways—it can support him with fire-power of greater mobility and range than his own ground weapons can afford; it can provide long-range vision for the ground fighter; and it offers the Army tremendously increased mobility for its men, weapons, and supplies.

Speaking specifically on helicopters, he said:

"There is no doubt in my mind that when the lessons of Korea have been fully assessed, the dependence of ground units on helicopters for observation, communication, control, and fire direction—as well as for transport—will emerge as one

Confronted With Critical Need, Services Feel Effects of Actions Against Career Officers

At a time of international crisis, when "second-best" can mean disaster, the status of career officers is deteriorating in the Armed Forces.

In face of the critical need to get and keep young men of outstanding qualifications, the Services are severely handicapped as a result of the reduced attractiveness of a military career.

General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has warned that the situation is serious. "Either we place the Armed Services in a better position to attract and retain competent individuals," he has said, "or we accept a progressive downgrading of the caliber of the Armed Forces. . . . The international position of the United States makes the acceptance of the latter hazardous in the extreme."

The fact of the matter is, however, that the Services have not been placed in an

Historic Navy Ships

Authorization for the Navy to restore or dispose of five of its historic vessels was requested of Congress this week by the Defense Department.

The proposed legislation would authorize the restoration and maintenance of the USS Constitution, and the sale or scrapping of the Constellation, Hartford, Olympia and Oregon. Both the Constitution and Constellation are sailing vessels, and the latter three are coal-burners.

With the exception of the Constitution, the Defense Department said all of the ships "are in poor condition," and "in some cases, there is danger of loss by fire, capsizing or flooding."

The only funds available for the maintenance of the historic vessels are those which are diverted from repair and overhaul funds for active and reserve fleet vessels. Consequently, the Department said, the annual maintenance on the ships, with the exception of the Constitution, has "been kept to the absolute minimum" and as a result they have "progressively deteriorated."

The cost of restoring all five would be about 35 million dollars with an annual maintenance cost (not counting the pay and subsistence of crews) of about $230,000.

The Department said "retention of the

The House of Representatives approved the conference report on the "Four-Fourteen" Service Pay Bill on Thursday, 15 May. Within a few hours the bill was brought up in the Senate and on motion of Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), the conference report was accepted virtually without debate.

The bill will go to the White House early next week where prompt signature by the President is assured.

With final enactment thus within sight, Department of Defense officials at the Pentagon have prepared the necessary forms and authority authorizing the increased rates to be paid dating back to the first of May, the effective date of the bill provided it is signed before the end of the month.

As reported in last week's issue of THE JOURNAL, the measure gives four per cent increase in base pay, active and retired, and 14 per cent increase in allowances. Provision for $45 a month combat pay for those who have served and are serving in Korea was knocked by the conferees.

Representative Paul J. Kilday (D-Tex.), who steered the original 10 per cent over-all bill through the House, called up the conference report shortly after the House convened on Thursday. He explained the provisions of the compromise and said that, altogether, the conference had come out with a better bill than he had expected.

Mr. Kilday called attention to the fact that the Combat Pay, voted in the Senate bill, had been dropped, but he seemed certain that the House Committee would take it up and bring a measure before the House.

Representative Dewey Short (R-Mo.) expressed the opinion that the Senate bill was better than the House's original 10 per cent measure, but that the conference report was an improvement on both.

Representative Overton Brooks (D-La.) also thought the compromise was an acceptable one, but expressed regret that combat pay had been omitted. He said that it is bad for morale in Korea to have the word go out that consideration was not given to hazard pay for ground troops while it is being given to fliers, submariners, paratroops, divers, etc. "It is high time," he said, "to give a more equitable spreading of hazard pay."

A number of other members brought up the subject of combat pay, but Representative Carl Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, explained that he hopes to give the combat pay hearings before adjournment. Representative James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), an ardent supporter of combat pay, remarked that he would take that as assurance that it would be brought before the House.

Korean Land Action Continues Confined

Fighting in Korea this week continued to follow the routine pattern which has marked the conflict, with little variation, for several months. Land operations were limited to numerous local skirmishes between small units, and naval action by surface vessels comprised the usual patrol, blockade, and bombardment missions to restrict movements of the enemy on coastal waters, and on shore railroads and highways.

In air combat planes of the Far East Air Force knocked down eight enemy jets, probably destroyed two, and damaged six others. Heavy attacks were made by Allied land planes and carrier-based aircraft against Communist transportation routes and front-line positions.

The impasse at the Panmunjom truce conference was not reflected in any increased military action on either side during the week. There were numerous patrol clashes and considerable probing activity by both sides all along the front, but the fighting was of only local significance, and the numbers engaged were quite small.

It was disclosed by the United Nations high command that the United States 1st Marine Division, formerly on the eastern front, had been transferred to the western sector. Actually the change was made several weeks ago but it was not announced officially until this week.

Marines Engaged

A Marine patrol northwest of Korangpo-ri this week engaged a small enemy party, killing 25 and wounding 15 in a 15-minute fight, during which artillery fire was directed on the Reds. Another enemy unit of undetermined strength fired on a Marine advance position east of Panmunjom, site of the truce conference.

Three United Nations outposts northwest of Yonchon were attacked this week by an enemy platoon. The small Allied units withdrew slightly to permit mortar and artillery fire to be used against the enemy, after which the positions were retaken without opposition. An Allied patrol engaged two enemy platoons west of Chorwon, with sporadic fighting continuing for four hours. The United Nations patrol then disengaged, reporting that 25 of the enemy had been killed.

A small enemy group assaulted an Allied outpost northeast of Kumwha, but after a brisk hand-to-hand fight with small arms and hand grenades the Reds withdrew. Other Allied patrols along the central front fought frequent light engagements with enemy units up to a reinforced platoon in strength.

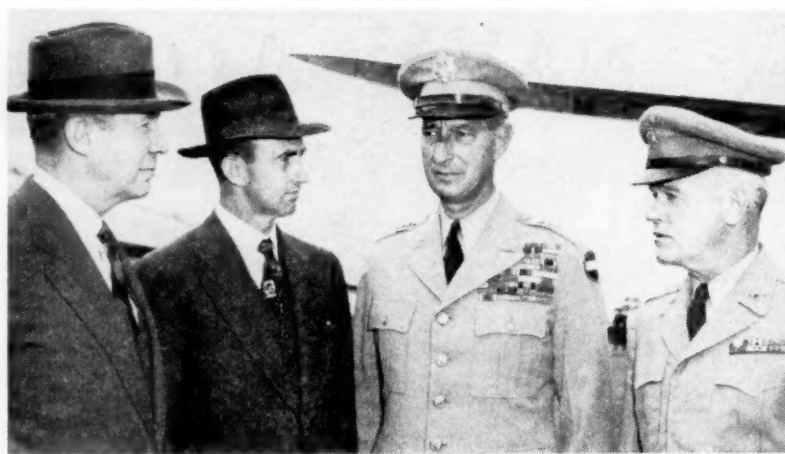

An enemy platoon probed an Allied outpost west of the Mundung-ni Valley, but withdrew after suffering slight losses. In another action in the same area there was a sharp exchange of small arms, automatic weapons, mortar and artillery fire, with no change in positions. Three small enemy units probed Allied positions 1,000 yards apart northeast of the Punch Bowl and were repulsed in brief fights. An enemy group attacked an Allied outpost northwest of Kansong, on the extreme eastern front, but withdrew after 10 minutes.

Carrier Aircraft

United Nations naval vessels and carrier-based aircraft blasted supply areas, gun and troop positions, and transportation lines along both coasts of North Korea. In addition to knocking out Red installations the guns of the warships and the bombs and rockets of the Navy and Marine airmen inflicted hundreds of enemy troop casualties.

Rapid fire salvos from the guns of the U.S. Cruiser Manchester hit troops and shore positions of the enemy a few miles north of the east coast battle line, inflicting an estimated 300 casualties. The cruiser, working with air spotters, bombarded a storage area, and also destroyed a number of boats, gun positions and bunkers. The U.S. Destroyer Evans, accompanying the Manchester, also scored hits on enemy installations near the eastern front.

In the same general area the U. S.

General Mark W. Clark is shown here with Deputy Secretary of Defense William C. Foster, Secretary of the Army Frank Pace and General J. Lawton Collins, Chief of Staff, just before taking off from Washington, D. C., to become Commander-in-Chief of the Far East Command.

Heavy Cruiser Bremerton went into action for the first time, firing on enemy front-line positions. The 5-inch batteries of the escorting destroyers, Stickell and Fox, took anti-aircraft batteries, 76mm shore guns and enemy bunkers under fire.

In the Songjin and Tanchon areas of the east coast day and night fire was laid on enemy gun positions by the U.S. Destroyers Doyle and Owens and the British Patrol Frigate Amethyst. The Owens was hit by enemy shore fire last week and sustained several casualties, but returned to action this week to silence Red batteries. Direct hits were also scored on a radio station, troop concentrations and bunkers. The U.S. Minesweeper Osprey fired 40mm missiles at close range at coastal targets in the same vicinity.

Destroyers Active

The U.S. Destroyers Maddox, Thomas and Evansville were under heavy fire from Communist shore batteries for an hour in Wonsan harbor, during which the enemy fired 175 rounds at the three ships. In this area the Maddox and the U.S. Destroyer Laffey scored numerous direct hits on transportation and supply targets. A chemical plant, rail and highway bridges, and gun positions were taken under attack.

On the west coast, enemy positions on the Ongjin Peninsula were shelled by the U.S. Destroyers Lowry and Brush, and the New Zealand Patrol Frigate Taupo. There were several secondary explosions, and numerous fires were started.

Navy planes from the U.S. Heavy Carriers Valley Forge and Princeton, off the east coast, roamed North Korea from Tanchon to Kilcku, knocking out gun positions, destroying a number of boats, exploding supply dumps, hitting bridges, and cutting rail lines in numerous places.

Planes from the British Light Carrier Ocean, off the west coast, made rocket attacks on Communist sampan shelters along the coast. Sea Furies and Fireflies strafed and rocketed sampan and junk piers, shore shelters, and warehouses.

Marine Panther Jets and Corsairs knocked out enemy supply trucks and cut rail lines in the Sinnak-Haeju area of Northwest Korea. They also flew numerous close support missions, destroying bunkers, mortar and gun positions, and tearing up hundreds of yards of enemy trenches in low-level bombing and strafing attacks.

Air Reports

Clearing skies and good flying weather enabled the Far East Air Force to average more than a thousand sorties daily during most of this week. Concentrated air attacks were made on enemy lines of communications, vehicular traffic, supply centers, front-line troops and gun positions. Heavy damage was caused and numerous casualties were inflicted.

American F-86 Sabre Jets, screening a fighter-bomber attack north of Pyongyang, on Tuesday, 13 May, intercepted a formation of enemy MIG-15 jets. Five enemy planes were destroyed, two others probably destroyed, and six dam-

Marine Corps Bill

The bill to set both a floor and a ceiling on the strength of the Marine Corps, as well as to give its commandant a definite position on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will be brought to the floor of the House of Representatives sometime this weekend. A "right-of-way" already has been given to it by the Rules Committee.

Majority Leader McCormack told the House on 8 May that the program for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week calls for consideration of the tide-lands bill first, then the legislative appropriation bill, and after that the Marine Corps bill. Should a rule be granted on the Mutual Assistance bill, he said, that would be brought up ahead of the Marine Corps bill. He speculated that if the Mutual Assistance bill comes up it will take two or three days to dispose of it. Then he added:

"I would also imagine, speculating again, that there might be rather intensive debate on the Marine Corps Bill."

aged. One of the enemy MIGs was bagged without firing a shot. It banked sharply to evade a pursuing Sabre and went into a spin and crashed. The other enemy losses resulted from a series of six jet dogfights which occurred at varying altitudes between Pyongyang and the Manchurian border. American plane losses, if any, will be announced later.

In another air battle on Thursday, 15 May, Sabre Jets caught three enemy MIGs flying south from the Manchurian border in Northwest Korea and shot down all three.

Strikes against Red rail lines by Allied fighter-bombers were largely concentrated on routes south of Huichon, where tracks were cut in more than 100 places. American F-80 Shooting Stars, F-84 Thunder Jets, F-51 and Marine Corsairs knocked out large sections of tracks for ten miles south of Huichon.

Republic of Korea Mustangs and Australian Meteors cut rails east of Sariwon and the Meteors also knocked out enemy supply buildings on the Haeju Peninsula. F-84 Thunder Jets blasted a tunnel north of Pyongyang and destroyed supply buildings west of Haeju. West of Choksong on the Imjin River fighter-bombers destroyed gun positions and bunkers.

Conferees Explain Pay Agreement

In presenting to the House of Representatives the terms of the compromise they made with the Senate on the matter of the cost-of-living pay increase for the Armed Forces, the House conferees filed the following explanatory statement:

Separate Plans

"The original House bill would have provided a 10 per cent increase in basic pay for all active duty and retired personnel of the uniformed services and a 10 per cent increase in all allowances.

"The Senate amendment reduced the increase in basic pay to 3 per cent for active duty personnel, but provided substantial increases in subsistence allowances for all personnel entitled to such allowances, and, in addition, provided increased quarters allowances for personnel with dependents, varying according to the number of dependents. Retired personnel under the Senate amendment would have received a 3 per cent increase in retired pay but only if such personnel qualified for retired pay under the Career Compensation Act of 1949.

"The cost of the House bill for the fiscal year 1953 would have amounted to $850,000,000. The cost of the Senate amendment amounted to $470,000,000. The amendment agreed to by the managers will result in an expenditure of $484,000,000 for the fiscal year 1953. Thus the amendment agreed to by the managers represents a decrease of $366,000,000 from the original House bill.

"Under the amendment contained in the conference report all members of the uniformed services will receive a 4 per cent increase in basic pay including retired personnel regardless of the law under which such personnel may have been retired. In addition all active duty personnel entitled to a quarters allowance will be granted an increase of approximately 14 per cent in such allowance, including enlisted personnel entitled to the benefits of the Dependents Assistance Act. Likewise, subsistence allowances for all personnel entitled to such allowances will be increased by 14 per cent.

Academies Included

"Both the House bill and the Senate amendment provided an increase for cadets and midshipmen at the Academies as well as an increase for aviation cadets. The amendment agreed to in the conference report also provides for an increase in the pay of such personnel but limits it to the 4 per cent increase applicable to all other personnel.

"The Senate amendment also provided for increasing the pay of enrollees of the United States Maritime Service on active administrative duty. Since such members of the United States Maritime Service have in the past received the pay and allowances in their respective ranks, grades, and ratings, as have been provided for personnel of the Coast Guard with similar ranks, grades, and ratings the House managers agreed to that part of the Senate amendment dealing with such persons, which removes any doubt as to their inclusion. There are approximately 480 persons involved at a cost not to exceed $121,000 per year. Prior pay increases for service personnel have been made applicable to this service.

"The Senate amendment also contained language which would have restored the right to count midshipman service in the case of those retired members of the Navy who were appointed as midshipmen to the United States Naval Academy prior to 4 March, 1913. Prior to the enactment of the Career Compensation Act of 1949 service at the Military and Naval Academies was permitted to be used as a multiplier in computing years of service for retirement pay purposes. This was applicable, however, only to men who had entered the Military Academy prior to 24 August, 1912, and to men who had entered as midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy prior to 4 March, 1913. A decision of the Comptroller General properly construed the Career Compensation Act as making inapplicable, for computing 'active service,' service at the Academies for the years in question. However, the managers are of the opinion that

Pentagon Set To Implement Pay Hike When White House O.K.'s 4-14% Bill

Late this week, finance officials of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Public Health Service and Coast and Geodetic Survey were busy with final preparations for implementing the pay hike.

The Department of Defense issued a statement which said that increases in allotment checks cannot be effected for three months due to the mechanical difficulty involved in changing thousands of allotment check plates.

The Pentagon said that the increases in quarters allowances will be paid to servicemen as an increment of regular pay for the next two months. Thereafter, this increase will be reflected in allotment checks paid to dependents.

The Department noted that funds to cover the pay increase are provided in the fiscal year 1953 budget, but added that a deficiency appropriation will be necessary for the remainder of fiscal year 1952. This deficiency will be $81.3 million.

Conferees Explanation

It was not the intention of the Career Compensation Act to eliminate credit for this type of service which prior to the Career Compensation Act had been creditable for retirement-pay purposes. Thus, the conferees agreed to language contained in the amendment permitting this service to be credited in computing retired pay. Coast Guard personnel would be benefited, by assimilation, in the same manner as naval personnel.

Combat Pay

"The House bill contained no provision with respect to combat pay for men who had served or are now serving in Korea. The Senate amendment contained a provision which would have provided $45 per month for all combat personnel who had served or are now serving in Korea.

"In view of the fact that the House Committee on Armed Services has not had an opportunity to conduct hearings on this important measure, which is highly technical in nature, the conferees agreed to the elimination of these provisions of the Senate amendment. Such action on the part of the conferees does not reflect disapproval of the principle of combat pay but instead should be interpreted as a desire on the part of the House conferees to give full and adequate study to this highly complicated matter. Any provision dealing with combat pay must be given careful and thorough analysis. It is anticipated that hearings will be conducted by the House Committee on Armed Services on a measure to provide additional benefits for service personnel who have served or are now serving or will serve in Korea. It should be noted that the combat-pay provisions of the Senate amendment were added as a floor amendment.

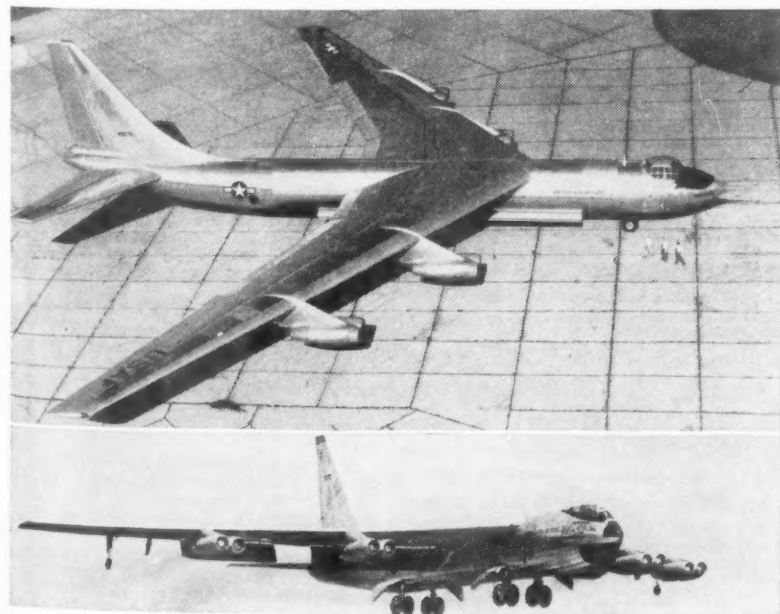

Release of Reserves

"The managers wish to call to the attention of the Department of Defense the rejection of that part of the Senate amendment which would have provided an additional $10 per month for officers with more than two dependents. The managers are of the opinion that greater consideration should be given to the early release of Reserve officers, particularly junior officers, with three or more dependents, who have applied or may apply for such release. Likewise, this same consideration should be given to any plans now contemplated for the recall of Reserve officers to active duty."

Fifth Air Force Shift

Lt. Gen. Frank F. Everest, USAF, Commanding General of the Fifth Air Force in the Far East, will be reassigned to duty as Deputy Commanding General, Tactical Air Force, Langley AFB, Va., in the near future. He will relieve Maj. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, who will replace General Everest as Fifth Air Force commander.

General Barcus will leave immediately for the Far East.

(d) The basic allowance for subsistence as provided in section 301 (e) of the Career Compensation Act of 1949, except the amount payable to enlisted persons when permission to mess separately is granted, is hereby increased by 14 per centum.

(e) The rates of pay prescribed in sections 508, 527, and 528 of the Career Compensation Act of 1949, are hereby increased by 4 per centum.

(f) For the duration of section 3 of the Dependents Assistance Act of 1950, the basic allowance for quarters as provided in subsection 302 (g) of the Career Compensation Act of 1949, as amended, is hereby increased by 14 per centum.

Sec. 2. (a) Members and former members of the uniformed services entitled to receive retired pay, retirement pay, retainer pay, or equivalent pay computed on the rates prescribed in section 201 (a) of the Career Compensation Act of 1949 shall be entitled to have such pay computed on the rates as prescribed by this Act.

(b) Members or former members who are entitled to receive retired pay, retirement pay, retainer pay, or equivalent pay under laws in effect prior to October 1, 1949, shall be entitled to an increase of 4 per centum of such retired pay, retirement pay, retainer pay, or equivalent pay.

Sec. 3. Section 509 of the Career Compensation Act of 1949 is amended to read as follows:

"ASSIMILATION TO PAY AND ALLOWANCES OF MEMBERS OF THE UNIFORMED SERVICES"

"Sec. 509. The provisions of titles II and III of this Act shall apply equally to those persons serving, not as members of any of the uniformed services, but whose pay or allowances, or both, under existing law or regulation promulgated pursuant to law are assimilated to the pay and allowances of commissioned officers, warrant officers, or enlisted persons of any rank or grade of any of the uniformed services."

Sec. 4. The Career Compensation Act of 1949, as amended, is further amended by inserting in section 412 after the words "members of the uniformed services" and in the third proviso to section 511 after the words "former member of the uniformed services," the words "service as a cadet or midshipman in the case of those members appointed to the United States Military Academy prior to August 24, 1912, or to the United States Naval Academy prior to March 4, 1913, if such service was creditable for longevity pay purposes at the time of retirement." This section shall be effective as of October 1, 1949. Appropriations currently available for pay and allowances of members of the uniformed services shall be available for retroactive payments authorized under this Act.

Sec. 5. Except as otherwise specifically provided, the provisions of this Act shall be effective on the first day of the month in which this Act is enacted.

Degrees for Medics

A bill to authorize the Army Medical Service Graduate School to award Master of Science and Doctor of Science degrees was submitted to Congress this week by the Defense Department.

Although the school has never been authorized to grant academic degrees, the Department said graduate work done at the School "has been accepted for credit for degrees in graduate schools, such as Johns Hopkins University and Harvard." The bill was introduced in the House.

"Tanks of Tomorrow"

Improvements and changes in the design and construction of the "Tanks of Tomorrow" were discussed in detail by over 100 top military and civilian technical specialists, engineers and tacticians during a two-day conference held in Detroit on 8 and 9 May.

Due to the lack of sufficient conference space at Detroit Arsenal, the meetings were held at the Chrysler Central Engineering Building in Highland Park. Col. Glenn C. Wildheide, commander of the Detroit Arsenal and host to the conference, made the opening address.

The views and needs of the using services were discussed with Army Ordnance officials during the first day. Scale models of proposed tanks were inspected and a full scale mock-up of a new, prospective, light tank was examined.

The meeting closed with a visit to the General Motors Proving Ground at Pontiac on 9 May.

Among the many distinguished visitors were: Maj. Gen. I. D. White and Maj. Gen. R. W. Beasley, Army Field Forces; Maj. Gen. W. D. Maris, Office of the Army General Staff; Brig. Gen. G. S. Meloy, Jr., Infantry School; Brig. Gen. Carroll H. Deltrick, commander of the Detroit Ordnance Tank-Automotive Center; Brig. Gordon-Hall, British Army and J. N. Davis, Office, Assistant Secretary of the Army.

Others present included: Colonels E. M. Clarke, W. S. Triplet, W. G. Dolvin, R. R. Robins, H. H. D. Heiberg, S. G. Brown, J. F. Thorlin, R. E. Rayle, C. J. Rinker, W. J. Crowe, R. Z. Crain, W. P. Withers, R. H. Grinder, D. A. McPherson, Charles B. Ewing, A. G. Chubb, A. G. Sangster, J. M. Henderson, L. A. Hammack and W. A. Call.

RA Officer Shortage

The Army has current vacancies for Regular officers in the Ordnance Corps and the Corps of Engineers, particularly in permanent company grade. Circular No. 36 gives the following criteria for officers seeking voluntary transfer:

a. Ordnance Corps.

- (1) Permanent grade not above major.
- (2) U. S. Military Academy graduate, or possess a degree in engineering, industrial management, metallurgy (physical), physics, chemistry, mathematics, business administration, or other related technical field.
- (3) Capable of absorbing further technical training and education, as indicated by records of military service and scholastic achievement.

b. Corps of Engineers.

- (1) Permanent grade not above captain.
- (2) Possess a degree in engineering or other related technical field.
- (3) Capable of absorbing further technical training and education, as indicated by records of military service and scholastic achievement.

Ft. Benning G-4

Lt. Col. Frank Barnett this week became acting G-4 (supply officer), for the Infantry Center, Ft. Benning, Ga. He replaces Col. James F. Torrence, Jr., who has been appointed to succeed Col. Charles H. Karlstad as acting chief of staff. Colonel Karlstad has been named commandant of The Psychological Warfare Center at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Col. Patton Retires

Col. M. V. Patton, Fifth Army Assistant Chief of Staff G-4 will retire from the Army 31 May after 35 years of service.

Los Altos, Calif., will be the temporary address of Colonel and Mrs. Patton after his retirement. They plan to take up permanent residence in California.

A son, Lt. George V. Patton, is serving with the 67th Fighter Bomber Squadron in Korea.

Use 'Copters for Mapping

Substantial savings in time and money are being made by the Army Corps of Engineers by the use of helicopters in its current military mapping operations in Alaska, the Department of the Army announced this week.

Fifteen helicopters have been used for the last two summers for surveying done in Alaska by the 30th Engineer Base Topographic Battalion. This battalion, with home station in San Francisco, conducts surveying in continental United States during the winter and moves to Alaska each summer with over 600 men. Its Aviation Detachment, unique in the Corps of Engineers, is authorized 50 aircraft, 45 of which are helicopters. It is the largest authorized air unit in the Army today.

The use of helicopters to carry surveyors and equipment over treacherous muskeg and rugged mountains has made possible surveying which previously was not feasible. Land travel in much of the area is slow and hazardous even during the short summer. Today, surveyors can reach the most isolated areas in minutes, where previously days of difficult and dangerous traveling were required.

Meet a power generator with "legs"

Extra power! Absolute dependability! Plus self-propulsion! Yes, Lycoming's resourcefulness and production skill not only provide a generator that starts jets and bombers, checks ground radar and electrical equipment—but also moves under its own power . . . power even great enough to permit its use as a towing vehicle.

Whether you require air-cooled power for aircraft or ground applications—or whether your need is precision machining, product development, or high-volume production—Lycoming offers extensive facilities and well-rounded experience. Long famous for its aircraft engines, Lycoming also meets the most exacting and diverse requirements in many fields, both military and industrial.

Whatever your problem—look to Lycoming!

Unique in its field, this all-purpose power package propels itself over the roughest terrain—another outstanding development of Lycoming research and precision production.

FAW, LANT Adds Squadrons

Fleet Air Wings, Atlantic, the anti-submarine patrol bomber and airship command whose headquarters are at Norfolk, has announced the addition of a patrol squadron, a hurricane reconnaissance squadron, and other changes among its 17 bases spread through the Atlantic, Caribbean and Mediterranean areas.

Patrol Squadron 11 is in the process of being formed at Quonset Point, R. I., and will be commissioned in mid-May under Comdr. Donald H. Wiss, former executive officer of VP-24. The unit will be a full-time anti-submarine and aerial mining squadron, and will fly four-engined Privateer bombers.

Weather Squadron Two, designated VJ-2, was formed at Jacksonville, Fla., earlier this year, and assumed full time duties in hurricane reconnaissance when the "season" opened on 15 May. Lt. Comdr. D. J. Walkinshaw commands the unit.

Patrol Squadron 23, which flew as a hurricane hunter unit from May to December for the past three years from Miami, Fla., has been shifted to the newly activated base at Brunswick, Me., and will operate as an anti-submarine unit. A small aerological unit stationed at Miami has been disestablished and its weathermen absorbed by VJ-2. Both VJ-2 and VP-23 will fly the Convair P4Y-2 Privateers, a naval version of the wartime B-24.

Floating Power Plant

The Navy is converting a 7,000-ton former Maritime vessel to a floating power plant capable of providing seventy-five per cent of power needs for the largest Naval shipyard in event of emergency.

Work has begun on the MS Coastal Racer, a CI-M-AVI design hull, and completion is expected in about two years. Contract for the conversion was awarded to the Gibbs Corporation of Jacksonville, Fla. When completed, the steam operated power plant will have a capacity of 34,500 kilowatts. At present, the largest Navy floating power plant is the 20,000 kilowatt USS Jacona now based in Korean waters.

U. S. NAVY & MARINE CORPS

New Admiral Piped Aboard

Rear Adm. Wallis F. Petersen, Western Pacific Area Commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service, was piped aboard as an officer of flag rank for the first time recently when side boys and staff officers at his Tokyo headquarters turned out to render honors to the newly-appointed admiral.

Admiral Petersen's command is responsible for the coordination of MSTs activities in the war zone and has been on the receiving end of more than 90 per cent of the fighting forces and equipment in the area. In addition, UN troops from Canada, Turkey, Greece, Ethiopia, Belgium, the Netherlands, Colombia, France, and Thailand were carried to Korea on ships coming under Admiral Petersen's operational control.

Selections Delayed

The new precept for a Marine Corps selection board to pick Reserve lieutenant colonels is still pending—47 days after the results of the first board were thrown out by the Navy JAG because the action was "not in consonance with existing law and regulations."

The Marine Corps said on 1 April, "it is anticipated that it will be necessary to convene another board under a new precept in order to preclude any question as to the selection process being in strict accordance with the JAG's interpretation." No new date has as yet been set for the board which first met on 21 Feb.

Aviator Exchange

Two USN aviators have been assigned to the Canadian 30th Carrier Air Group under a pilot exchange program which brings two RCN aviators to U. S. Navy jet fighter and anti-submarine squadrons.

Lt. (jg) N. T. Gower, jr., USN, has been assigned to the Canadian 871 Sea Fury Squadron, and Lt. Terry Hardenbergh, USN, has joined the Canadian 881 Avenger Squadron.

New Duty for Gen. Puller

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. "Chesty" Puller, USMC, now assistant commander of the Third Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, Calif., will assume command of the Troop Training Unit, Amphibious Training Command, at Coronado, San Diego, Calif., about 6 June. He will replace Brig. Gen. William W. Davies, 52, whose new command has not been disclosed.

General Puller became assistant commander of the Third Marine Division in May, last year, after he had returned from Korea. He was promoted to brigadier general only five months earlier.

General Davies, a native of Washington, D. C., is a pioneer in the development of present day Marine Corps amphibious landing craft. He has been commander of the Troop Training Unit at Coronado since January, this year, but served there previously as chief of staff.

Marines Cut Lost-Time

The Marine Corps has established new policies to reduce the time normally lost by Marine replacements going to the Far East.

In the future, the majority of ground officers reporting to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for shipment to the Far East, will not be given training and physical conditioning as has been the practice in the past. All officers were "alerted" by Almarcon "to their individual responsibility to keep in top physical condition."

A second directive, notified all commanding officers that enlisted personnel reporting to the West Coast for replacement training or transport to the Far East "must complete" marksmanship qualification before their arrival on the Coast. All officers below the rank of colonel must have fired their individual weapon for qualification or familiarization within the 12 months preceding their arrival at West Coast installations.

The Corps said further that personnel reporting as Far Eastern replacements "must have completed required dental treatment, have identification tags, have complete immunization series," and enlisted personnel "must be transferred with required clothing issue, allotments, insurance and all service record book entries up to date."

Marine Board Members

Brig. Gen. Homer L. Litzberg, jr., is president of the Marine Corps selection board which met 15 May at Headquarters to consider captains for promotion to major. The board may select 1,563 of the most senior captains on active duty.

Other members of the board: Colonels Earl H. Phillips, August Larson, William K. Lanman, jr., Robert A. Black, Paul R. Tyler, Stuart M. Charlesworth, John J. Wermuth, jr., Paul R. Byrum, jr., Donald E. Huey, Richard A. Beard, jr., and Lieutenant Colonels Carl J. Fleps, Hugh M. Elwood, Randolph C. Berkeley, jr., Jino J. D'Alessandro.

1st Lt. Alfred E. Smith is recorder.

Marines Build 'Copter Support For Air Wings

The Marine Corps has launched an expansion of its air arm which will give added importance to the role of the helicopter in Marine operations, THE JOURNAL learned this week.

Under the program, each of the Corps' three air wings will be provided with a helicopter group, commanded by a senior Marine aviator and consisting of six squadrons. Three squadrons in each group will be made up of transport helicopters.

The first of the new "flying eggbeater" groups, MAG-16, was commissioned at the Marine Corps Air Facility, Santa Ana, Calif., earlier this year, as reported in THE JOURNAL of 8 March. Commanded by Col. H. K. Mitchener, this group will eventually operate with the First Marine Air Wing which is now on duty in Korea. One of the group's squadrons was the first helicopter squadron to transport an entire battalion of Marines in combat.

A second helicopter group will be commissioned at the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C., late next month, as a part of the Second Marine Air Wing, based at that station. The new Cherry Point Group, MAG-26, whose commanding officer has not yet been designated, will consist initially of two helicopter transport squadrons (HMR-261 and HMR-262), an air maintenance squadron (MAMS-26), an air base squadron (MABS-26), and a headquarters squadron (Hedron-26). Another helicopter transport squadron (HMR-263) is expected to be commissioned shortly after formation of the new group and will be added to the group at that time.

The third group will be commissioned as a part of the newly activated Third Marine Air Wing which is based at the Marine Corps Air Station, Miami. No date has been set as yet for the commissioning of this group, but a Marine spokesman told THE JOURNAL that plans for it are underway. Another source said the Group will probably be commissioned before the end of the fiscal year.

It is possible that the newest of the three groups (whose designation will probably be MAG-36) will not be based at Miami since no ground troops will be stationed at the base. Some observers believe it might be located at Camp Lejeune, N. C., although assigned to the Third Wing.

All three of the helicopter groups will be organic units of the air wings, but will operate to transport Marine ground units in combat.

Heads New Unit

Capt. Philip H. Ross, a submarine skipper whose ship sank thousands of tons of enemy shipping in World War II, has been named by Vice Adm. Charles W. Fox, Chief of Naval Material, to administer a new Materials Conservation unit.

The unit will push efforts to combat waste throughout the Navy. It will emphasize a continuing policy "to repair, make things do, replace only when not repairable—then turn in the old material."

Agree on Small Increases For Veterans and Families

A bill granting modest increases to some categories of veterans, and to some widows and children of veterans, was approved by Congress this week and is now at the White House awaiting the President's signature.

Comparisons of the old and new rates were set forth in the conference report as follows:

Rates of compensation for service-connected disabilities for veterans

Percentage of Disability	War service-connected rates, Veterans Regulation 1(a), as amended, pt. I	Conference agreement	Peacetime service-connected rates, Veterans Regulation 1(a), as amended, pt. II	Conference agreement

Similar small increases were granted for anatomical losses, and to veterans of the Civil, Indian, and Spanish-American wars and their widows and dependents.

Navy Board Reports

Navy selection boards have recommended the promotion of 2,305 junior Naval Reserve officers.

Selected by the board were 1,409 men and women lieutenants (jg) and 896 lieutenants for promotion to lieutenant and lieutenant commander in the various staff corps. All of those selected are on inactive duty or have reported for active duty since 30 June 1951.

Those selected for lieutenant commander included 104 MC, 98 DC, 65 MSC, 38 NC, 340 SC, 75 ChC, and 176 CEC.

Those selected for lieutenant included 600 MC, 90 DC, 32 MSC, 39 NC, 448 SC, six ChC, and 194 CEC.

Historic Navy Ships

Constitution is considered warranted not only because of her superlative value as an inspiration and symbol, but also because of the relatively small amount of money required to restore her and to provide for her maintenance after restoration." Submitted figures show that it would cost $800,000 to restore the ship, and $41,000 annually to maintain her.

It was suggested that if the other ships are to be sold or scrapped, parts of historical interest should be removed and retained by the Navy or loaned or donated to non-profit historical or educational institutions. Other parts suitable for souvenirs or mementoes could be sold, the Department said.

brought to a final vote, a roll call vote was called for. The vote was 333 to 0, which would seem to indicate unanimous support. However, there was one member on the floor, Representative H. R. Gross (R-Iowa), who merely voted "present." Subsequently, a representative of THE JOURNAL asked him why he refrained from voting either for or against the measure.

"I think this proposition of giving big increases to the 'top brass' and only crumbs to the lower grades is wrong," Mr. Gross replied. "That was the reason I voted against the original bill in the House. The conference report is some improvement, but it still indulges in the

Col. Howard M. C. Snyder, Jr., Secretary of the General Staff, European Command, since February 1950, assumed command of the 6th Armored Cavalry Regiment at Straubing, Germany, on 15 May.

Col. Rothwell Brown, whom Colonel Snyder will succeed in command of the regiment, has been alerted for return to the United States.

VULCAN NEEDED AN ANVIL...

But Philco forged a mighty weapon with a change of name! When the Armed Forces needed vast quantities of Microwave Radio Relay equipment, Philco's standard commercial product met the exacting requirements without change! Philco Advanced Design Microwave already contained JAN-approved components and military type plug-in assemblies. So with only the change of name from Philco Advanced Design Microwave to AN/TRC-30, it was ready for military use.

Philco Microwave equipment is designed for utmost reliability, flexibility and ease of maintenance... qualities demanded without compromise by the Armed Forces. Philco's ability to surpass these rigid standards provided the Armed Forces with an immediate source of vital communications equipment.

Today, as always, forward-thinking Philco stands ready to develop and produce advanced electronics equipment to meet any need of the Government and the Armed Forces.

AF Slates General Officer Selections

An Air Force selection board to name officers for permanent and temporary promotion to the grades of major general and brigadier general will be convened on or about 11 June.

Recommendations will be made for officers to be selected to fill vacancies resulting from attrition since the last promotions and to bring the Air Force up to strength under existing general officer authorizations, an Air Force spokesman reported. The best qualified method of selection will be used.

Permanent

Permanent promotion consideration will be extended as follows:

To Major General: All permanent grade Brigadier Generals, Regular Air Force, who have served one year in permanent grade of Brigadier General as of 1 July 1952.

To Brigadier General: (1) All permanent grade colonels (exclusive of Medical and Chaplain Services) with dates of rank as permanent colonel prior to 3 April 1948, who complete twenty years' promotion list service prior to 1 January 1953. (2) All permanent grade Medical colonels, Regular Air Force, with dates of rank as permanent colonel prior to 31 October 1949, who completed twenty years' promotion list service prior to 31 October 1949.

Temporary

Temporary promotions considerations are:

To Major General: All Regular and non-Regular Air Force officers currently serving on active duty as Brigadier Generals.

To Brigadier General: All permanent regular colonels and all non-regular Air Force colonels serving on active duty with dates of rank prior to 1 August 1951, and who (1) will be at least forty years of age prior to 1 January 1953 or (2) will complete not less than fifteen years' promotion list service or active Federal commissioned service prior to 1 January 1953.

Any officer scheduled to be listed for consideration for permanent promotion under the above criteria who desires to submit a written communication under provisions of Section 507 (c) Public Law 381, 80th Congress should forward such communication to reach the Office of the Director of Military Personnel, Headquarters, USAF, Attn: Promotions and Separations Division, not later than 11 June.

Permanent Colonels

The Selection Board scheduled to convene 16 June 1952 to recommend officers for permanent promotion to colonel, Regular Air Force, has been rescheduled to convene 7 July 1952. Communications should be submitted to reach the Office of the Director of Military Personnel, Headquarters, USAF, ATTN: Promotions and Separations Division, prior to the new convening date of the Board.

TDY personnel while they are stationed in the UK. This is a necessary prohibition because of housing, supply and other obvious difficulties, along with the bald fact that for short periods of intensive training the elimination of usual domestic distractions of a family man, enables him to devote more to the job at hand.

Let this appear as an overly-severe attitude to take in a peace-time situation, it must be remembered that maximum utilization of manpower is being demanded throughout the Air Force, and with particular emphasis is being stressed in the 7th Air Division. We are moved not only by the compulsion of our own Air Force directives but by certain sensitive considerations that stem from the stationing of troops of one nation within the borders of another friendly nation.

Naturally, a full and frank discussion of the command problems peculiar to the 7th AD cannot be indulged in beyond suggesting general areas with their attendant broad implications.

We have been more than routinely fortunate in the quality and spirit of the men serving in the 7th Air Division.

In addition, we have been helped immeasurably by our good friends, the Royal Air Force. With them—complete cooperation comes easily and is stimulated by mutual respect and an understanding of each other's problems.

Shift AMC Generals

New assignments for five Air Materiel Command generals and the creation of two new AMC directorates are announced by Lt. Gen. Edwin W. Rawlings, AMC commanding general. The changes will be effective on 1 June.

The reorganization of the present Directorate of Supply, Services and Maintenance Engineering will see creation of two new directorates—the Directorate of Supply and Services and the Directorate of Maintenance Engineering.

The following transfers of AMC general officers were announced:

Maj. Gen. William D. Eckert, assistant deputy commanding general of the Air Materiel Command, will go to USAF Headquarters, Washington, to become assistant to Lt. Gen. Orville R. Cook, deputy chief of staff for materiel.

General Eckert will be replaced at Wright-Patterson AFB by Maj. Gen. George W. Mundy, who moves up from his present post as director of Supply, Services and Maintenance Engineering.

Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Chapman, chief of AMC's Maintenance Engineering Division since 1950, will become commanding general of the Warner Robins Air Materiel Area, Macon, Ga., succeeding Brig. Gen. R. V. Ignicio who will retire.

The Directorate of Supply and Services will be headed by Brig. Gen. Lewis R. Parker, present Supply Division chief.

Brig. Gen. Manning E. Tillery, now deputy director of Supply, Services and Maintenance Engineering, will be acting director of Maintenance Engineering.

Fill TTAFF Posts

Col. Frederick W. Ott, former deputy wing commander at Sampson AFB, N. Y., has assumed duties as Inspector General, and Lt. Col. Clarice O. Hobson, previously assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., as Group TA&D officer, is the new Assistant Director of Technical Training under DCS Operations for the Technical Training Air Force, Gulfport, Miss.

Colonel Ott succeeds Col. Carroll H. Carns, who is being assigned as an air base group commander with the 12th Air Force in Germany.

Pepperrell AFB C.O.

Col. J. Gordon Pratt, base commander at Pepperrell AFB, Newfoundland, for almost two years, returns to the U. S. this month to take over a new post at USAF Headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Maj. Gen. Charles T. Myers, USAF, NEAC, Commanding General, has named Col. Roy D. Butler as the new base commander.

Bomb Group Reunion

The 388th Bomb Group "H" Association will hold its third annual reunion at the French Lick Springs Hotel, Ind., on 17, 18 and 19, July.

All former members of this group may obtain reservation and additional information regarding the Reunion by writing to Lloyd Long, Secretary, 383 Adam, Tonawanda, N. Y.

Gen. Kenney Stresses Need For Number One Air Force

General George C. Kenney, USAF, delivered a strong appeal for an enlarged Air Force at graduation ceremonies on 10 May at the Air War College, Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Introduced by Lt. Gen. Idwal H. Edwards, USAF, Air University commander, a post formerly held by General Kenney, the retired four-star officer declared:

"This school has tried to prepare you for service if this country is plunged into another world-wide conflict. It has tried to keep you from thinking of picking up World War III where World War II left off. When you leave here, don't slip back. The pressure will be on you to do that very thing because it is much easier to follow the old grooves than to blaze new trails. Remember that history shows war is an art, not a science. The nation that does not progress in this field, perishes. Don't let preconceived ideas dominate your thinking. Constantly examine those things called doctrine.

"For example, we have said we must have control of the air before we hit the vital targets of the enemy. If while we are striking the enemy air force, our cities are destroyed and our people decide that they can take no further punishment and quit, have we made the right decision? Assuming that unless we dominate the air over the battle area, no surface forces can operate with any hope of victory, are we playing fair with the country in compromising on anything less than the number one air force? If there is a chance that strategic bombing can bring the enemy to his knees, how much of that power should we syphon off to the support of the ground forces who can at best perform a holding mission?

"These are questions which we must think of and give our honest opinions about, regardless of whether or not someone else is offended or disagreed with us. The correct answers will mean the difference between our survival and defeat.

"I may be accused of preaching rebellion. Perhaps; but this country was founded by rebels, we achieved our present position through the efforts of people who differed with the old established ideas; aviation was invented by people who rebelled against the scientists who could prove that man could never fly. Progress is the product of rebellion. Without rebels we have stagnation. If we stagnate, we perish. If it takes rebels to survive, let's be rebels."

Seek Specialized Officers

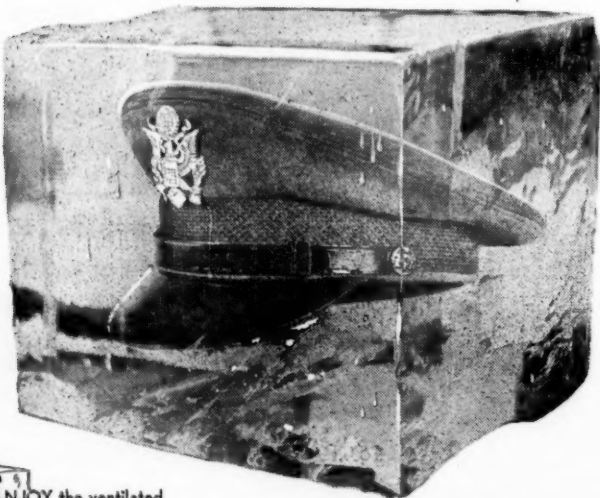

Wide open opportunities for college men to train as Second Lieutenants in the Air Force's expanding electronics Countermeasures Training Program are reported by the Continental Air Command, Mitchel AFB, N. Y.

The Air Force is facing acute shortages in highly specialized flying personnel to man its intricate air electronic countermeasures system, officials said.

To qualify for this highly technical AF Electronics Countermeasures Training, applicants must hold a college degree or be in final semester, and not be over 27 years of age. In addition, they are required to have college credit for one year physics or mathematics study, including at least algebra and trigonometry. They must also be physically qualified and willing to undergo Aircraft Observer flying training.

The Electronic Countermeasures Officer training course consists of eight weeks officer basic training, 22 weeks electronic fundamentals instruction, and 15 weeks ground phase work, which takes in the technical study of electronic countermeasures equipment.

of the most important. And, from the Korean battleground, commanders continue their urgent requests to "send more Army aircraft—especially helicopters!"

"I think it's appropriate to transmit this request directly to you in this audience, many of whom are working at top speed to fill the helicopter orders placed by the Army and its sister services.

"In places other than Korea, your Army is also finding the helicopter an effective and economical means to perform duties of a non-combat nature. In Alaska, for instance, our Corps of Engineers is establishing new records for speed and efficiency in a large scale mapping operation through the use of helicopters to carry surveyors and their equipment over treacherous muskeg and mountains. * * *

"As you produce more and better helicopters, with greater speed, range, maneuverability, and load capacity, you will permit your Army to substitute more helicopters for its motor transportation.

"The modern motorized Army is inherently road-bound to a certain extent. But only the worst kind of weather can make it ground-bound—if it is adequately supplied with enough helicopters to complement its motor transportation."

Service Participation

Many Service personnel participated in the Society's Forum. Capt. Paul A. Simmons, USAF, of the propeller lab, Air Materiel Command, was chairman of the theory and design section. On Thursday afternoon Capt. Wayne W. Eggert, USAF, of the Wright Air Development Center, presented a paper on "Air Force Testing and Evaluation of Helicopters."

Friday, Lt. Phillip W. Kerr, USN, and Capt. Eugene J. Pope, USMC, helicopter maintenance project officers, of the Maintenance Division, Bureau of Aeronautics, discussed "Design for Maintenance." Lt. Col. George L. Lovett, USA, Ord. Corps, gave a paper on "U. S. Army Helicopter Maintenance Experience in Korea." Lt. Col. Gene L. Douglas, USAF, Hq. Air Rescue Service, MATS, spoke on "Helicopter Operations in Alaska." Later, Maj. John J. Dean, USAF, of MATS Air Rescue Service, talked on "Korean Rescue Operations."

rine Corsairs, directed by T-6 Mosquito spotter planes, flew numerous close support missions, particularly on the central and eastern fronts, knocking out bunkers, troop and supply revetments and inflicting numerous casualties.

American B-29 medium bombers flew from Okinawa to make a night attack on the rail bridge at Kwaksan. Using electronic aiming technique the Superforts dropped more than 100 tons of high explosives on the bridge. The bomber pilots reported no flak, but they were lightly attacked by enemy night fighters. Other Superforts dropped air-bursting, anti-personnel bombs on enemy troop concentrations near the battle line. Still other B-29s dropped high explosives on the rail bridge at Huichon.

Night-flying B-26 light bombers and Marine aircraft destroyed numerous enemy supply vehicles moving south along several parallel highways toward the front line. They also attacked a locomotive and several rail cars at Kanggye, but were unable to observe results.

Press Is Best I.G.

The press is the best inspector general the Army has, Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, the Army's public information chief, recently told officer students of The Armored School, Ft. Knox, Ky.

"Never try to fool or slick the press," he said. "It's not possible to suppress news and it's poor policy to try. If it's news the papers will get it."

General Parks, Chief of Staff of the First Allied Airborne Army in Europe during World War II, insisted that it is to the best interest of the Army to constantly inform the press of news—both good and bad.

Finishing School for

GUIDED MISSILES

The Air Force Missile Test Center, used by all our military services as a long-range proving ground, stretches thousands of miles from Florida, out over the Bahamas, into the South Atlantic.

A pilotless bomber roars away from its launching stand, picks up speed, zooms into the blue. Setting its course for a far-off target in the ocean, it rockets over a chain of tiny islands where men and machines check its flight, its behavior, the operation of its guidance and control systems. It's a vital part of our air power of the future—aeronautical research and development laying the foundation for continued U. S. air supremacy!

Operated by the USAF's Air Research and Development Command, the Missile Test Center is geared up to test the wide variety of missiles, rockets and pilotless aircraft vital to modern air power. It reached its full stature with the recent completion of down-range observation stations. And the dramatic B-61 pilotless bomber, the Matador, designed and produced by Martin as part of its diversified missiles program, was the first to use the completed range. THE GLENN L. The Retired List Loses. The "Four-Fourteen" cost-of-living pay increase, now awaiting Presidential approval, is welcomed by members of the Armed Services as affording some relief from the pressure they and their families have been under during the recent years of steadily increasing prices. The four per cent increase in base pay and the 14 per cent increase in rental and subsistence allowances will be of appreciable help to those on the active list. Not as much, to be sure, as the full 10 per cent increase retroactive to last July, given to civilian employees, but nevertheless of considerable assistance in meeting day to day needs.

For the many thousands of officers, warrant officers and enlisted personnel who have given their best years to their country and who are now on the retired list, the picture is different. Retired pay being computed on base pay and there being no allowances, these Service people, already living on greatly reduced incomes, will be given only a four per cent increase to meet inflated prices. In this connection it is interesting to refer to a bill recently approved by both houses of Congress and now also awaiting the President's signature. This measure very properly assures that all retired personnel of the State Department's Foreign Service will receive a $300 a year increase in their retired pay or 25 per cent of their pay, whichever is lesser. The original increase was granted some time ago but it seems that some category was overlooked, so Congress acted to extend it to all. It takes only a little computation to see that all retired Foreign Service officers receiving $100 a month or more will get an increase of $300 a year, while those receiving $100 or less will get a $25 a month increase. Doubtless this is well merited, but it indicates how much less considerate Congress is with the retired personnel of the Armed Services, many of whom were permanently disabled by wounds received in action. Under the four per cent service increase no retired military personnel in the grades of brigadier general or lower will get as big an increase as $300 a year. The only ones to draw that much will be those retired in the grades of major general and above and whose service or disability entitles them to the maximum percentage of retired pay.

There should be an entire restudy of the retired pay situation.

All Services "In the Air." Secretary of the Army Pace's interesting talk this week before the American Helicopter Society stresses the increasing use of aircraft by the ground forces. Not only is the Army now making the fullest use of all the aircraft available to it, but the Secretary revealed that intensive staff studies, plus battlefield experience, have convinced the Army that it must exploit the air to a greater extent. To accomplish its mission, the Army will be transported not only by foot, motor, and railway, but also by the Navy on, and possibly under, the sea, and by the Air Force through the air.

While working with and benefiting by the accomplishments of the Air Force and the Navy in the performance of their primary missions, the Army, at the same time, has organic aircraft of various types, including light conventional planes and helicopters, for use in fulfilling its own primary missions. These craft increase the effectiveness of artillery fire, save lives through the rapid evacuation of wounded, keep commanding generals fully aware of developments all along their front lines, supply isolated

The USS Constitution—"Old Ironsides"—now on exhibition at Boston, and the USS Constellation, also docked at Boston. These were two of the first vessels authorized by the newly born United States to protect our commerce against the Barbary powers.

The USS Hartford in whose rigging Admiral Farragut stood when he shouted, "Damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead." She is tied up at the Portsmouth, Va., Navy Yard.

Medal for Korean Period

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

The legislation now in process, that extends to veterans of the current Korean situation all the benefits of existing laws applicable to World War II veterans—including educational, mustering out pay, loan benefits, etc., I most certainly agree to be nothing more than just and equitable. It should without question be promptly passed by the Congress and signed promptly by the President.

In connection with this question, there remains the proposition of a service medal for all who served anywhere during the period of the Korean affair; which to my knowledge has not received any consideration. I propose the use of a service medal identical with the American Defense Medal of 1939-1941 with the exception of changes in dates and a change in the basic color of the ribbon from yellow to the UN blue that prevails in medals already provided for those who actually served in Korea. Those who served elsewhere are just as entitled to consideration as those who served in 1939-1941 and received the American Defense Service Medal. They gave in equal proportion of their service, in the preparation and training of those who actually participated in actual combat in Korea as compared to the veterans of 1939-1941.

What of the Future?

Editor, THE JOURNAL:

Recently I was appointed a second lieutenant in the Regular Army through the ROTC program. I was very much elated and quite proud as I visualized all of the fine things I thought a Regular Army career would mean.

After reading your many articles, editorials and letters to the editor, I got the idea that everything wasn't so rosy. Retirement benefits, PX and commissary privileges, household shipping rights, uncalled for delay in an inadequate pay raise, survivor benefits, promotions and demotions, combat pay, UMT, defense build up, attitude toward the military, incentive pay, dependent medical care, etc., are some of the issues under fire.

The following thoughts have occurred to me: What's going on here, if these congressmen are doing this to us now, what will they do twenty years hence? In fact, at this rate we stand a good chance of not being around twenty years from now. Maybe there won't even be a Congress left. Are they for us or agin us?

I am not suggesting that the Regular Army might atrophy from lack of volunteers. There are still a number of gallant gentlemen so devoted to their country that they would continue to serve—even under the standard conditions of pre WW II days. However, I am suggesting that continued "slashing" from the boys on the hill will make the Armed Forces much less attractive to young men selecting a career.

Just where do the uniformed taxpayers actually stand with Congress and the American people?

A NEWCOMER

at Manila Bay—"You may fire when ready, Gridley." She spends her days at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

The USS Oregon, whose epic 64-day voyage under forced draft from San Francisco to Santiago Bay pointed up the need for an inter-ocean canal. Once sold for scrap, she was subsequently recovered by the Navy and is now at Apra Harbor, Guam, too weary to return from her last war task of carrying explosives to the Pacific.

The stirring traditions and exploits of the U. S. Navy are engraved in the hearts and history books of Americans. Nevertheless, we have far too little in the way of exhibition relics to inspire the young and remind the old. We recall the large and enthusiastic crowds that swarmed aboard "Old Ironsides" when she made her exhibition tour to various coastal cities. Surely, the people would welcome the preservation of such naval shrines.

The cost of restoration is high. Perhaps Congress could afford to appropriate for some vessels and set up a plan for public contributions to provide for some others. A special stamp issue or an issue of commemorative coins to be sold at above face value with the additional money going into the ship-relic fund would be one method. Certainly we should not let them all be sunk or go for scrap.

IN THE JOURNAL

10 Years Ago—

U. S. Naval and Air Forces last week broke up one Japanese threat to push farther south in the Pacific in the great battle of the Coral Sea, sinking or damaging an estimated total of 22 enemy ships in what will be classed as one of the greatest sea battles in history.

50 Years Ago—

In sustaining our military officers in the Philippines, President Roosevelt will be doing precisely what Lincoln did, after three years of civilian criticism and intermeddling had satisfied him and Congress that there was but one hope for the country and that was in giving military men control of military matters.

85 Years Ago—

"Not only the war but its lessons and its warnings are half forgotten. Already the military education of youth is ignored, as of old, and military drill, which was once considered the first necessity in 'gymnastics,' is fallen into disrepute."

The press appears to be in general agreement with the recent "package" proposal of the Korean truce team, and with President Truman's statement that "we will not buy an armistice by turning over human beings for slaughter or slavery."

The decision of the prisoners who don't want to return, the Houston Post says, "is a great psychological victory for Western democracy, and it should be made known to all of Asia by every means possible. More than ever it requires the UN negotiators to stand firm on the issue of repatriation of the prisoners."

Ironically enough, the Louisville Courier-Journal remarks, "the trouble is one which in any other circumstances might be regarded as a victory for the West."

The Greensboro News is pleased that many of the prisoners preferred "military captivity to total captivity," and thinks it is "an ominous day for Stalin and the Kremlin when their pawns begin to choose freedom."

The New York Post says "What differentiates free society from the slave world is our refusal to say that any human life is unimportant. Free men may differ about many things but that principle remains crucial. The UN can't trade these 70,000 lives without selling its soul."

Another New York paper, the World-Telegram and Sun, says the prisoners have "the right to choose, and they have chosen freedom. In honoring that right, we have honored ourselves."

The whole prisoner problem "is really a test of the sincerity of the Communist negotiators," according to the St. Paul Pioneer Press. "There is nothing vitally at stake for them in this prisoner question. Even without these 62,000 they would be getting back 70,000 of their men, in exchange for the 12,000 allied prisoners they hold."

The Des Moines Register discusses the UN proposal to have the prisoners who don't want to return rescreened by neutrals, with both UN and Communist representatives present, if an armistice is signed. The paper says "Moscow can't accept the truce because it can't face such a testimonial before the world."

Trouble Likely in West Berlin

UNLESS the Soviet authorities are bluffing completely, which is not a recommended bet, we will be encountering difficulties on the road into West Berlin very shortly. For on the eve of the Bonn Government's agreements, first, with the North Atlantic Treaty organization on the new Government's participation in grand scale western defense and, second, with France, Italy and the three Benelux powers on the first phase of the European Defense Community, Ulbricht (who is Moscow's lackey in East Germany) gave some sinister warnings against the Bonn Government's projected action. The threat of reprisal was directed against the beleaguered and defiant authorities of West Berlin who, to their credit, promptly indicated that after bucking Communism successfully for seven years they are used to it. Mayor Reuter is a man who does not scare easily; and he remained calm during the long blockade which Allied air power finally broke, he noted without alarm the Russians' cowardly attack on an unarmed French passenger plane last month, and he apparently is ready for whatever nuisance actions Ulbricht plans at the order of his Moscow masters. Reuter's high faith in Allied determination has been fully justified in the past; there is no reason to doubt the future, for the western powers' identical notes on a proposed all-German vote showed customary firmness. But the Reds' next endeavor is hard to predict. They are not making the turn-over of SHAPE authority too easy, nor bidding General Eisenhower farewell with any larger grace than they are welcoming General Ridgway.

That ceremony will be reality in less than a fortnight, which will be time enough to estimate the enormous achievement in SHAPE's year-and-a-half lifetime. The growth of the actual forces and the growing reserves, the integration of the staff and the several command sectors, the necessarily slow construction of the supply and administrative complex, all this can be measured in fairly finite terms. But there is no rule nor scale nor cubic-content measure for the things referred to above—(1) the substantial progress made in the European Defense Community upon which six foreign ministers and six parliaments still must act, but to which the negotiating agents agreed a week ago; and (2) the progress made on that 400-page contractual agreement whereby (with eventual approval by the same higher authorities) West Germany seems likely soon to link herself with the west, even at the cost of delaying reunion with the imprisoned German areas east of the Oder. How few of us would have dared predict a mere year ago that such progress would be recorded by May of 1952? One who did dare was General Eisenhower; fortunately he did not limit his activities to those of a prophet, but supplied leadership and energizing to which is due a great part of the success thus far attained.

None of the tasks of an alliance is easy. A new and startled witness to that fact is Admiral William M. Fechteler, whose rapid journey to SHAPE headquarters, to Admiral Robert B. Carney's headquarters in Naples, and to London for consultations at the Admiralty as well as at our own naval offices, had been over smooth seas. Without warning he then read announcement that Le Monde in Paris had published a 7,500 word report and recommendation falsely attributed to the U. S. Chief of Naval Operations; it purported to declare war inevitable by 1960, and to anticipate a Russian sweep of western Europe in three days, and the wisdom of planning a distant counter-campaign of "liberation" via the Mediterranean. Admiral Fechteler and others who would be concerned in planning promptly denied the document and its views as "utterly fantastic." A search of naval papers fails to disclose anything which imagination could stretch into such extraordinary declarations as Le Monde printed—without inquiry at the Quai d'Orsay, by the way, as to the document's authenticity. The newspaper's principal authority on such matters resigned publicly in protest against the management's reckless use of a document, which it is suspected was "planted" for the purpose of embarrassing the west's current negotiations for strengthening NATO and the European Army.

Austria, still unable to get Russia to keep the promises of 1945 and still reluctant to make a separate peace lest it bring new and savage Russian reprisals on that tiny land, has sent its courageous Chancellor, Leopold Figl, to the United States for consultations. What can be done by diplomacy or other means to aid Austria, half-enveloped by Red satellites, is dubious; we have again sent Moscow a suggestion that an answer, at least, be given to the three-power note of 13 March,

Gen. Clark Faces Knotty Problems

GENERAL Mark W. Clark, USA, this week succeeded General Matthew B. Ridgway, USA, as Commander-in-Chief of United Nations Forces in Korea, and immediately fell heir to two major problems. One of these is the sagging Korean truce conference at Panmunjom, and the other is the related situation arising from the episode of the capture by Communist prisoners and subsequent release, in return for concessions, of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, USA, former commandant of the prison camp at Kojé Island, off the southern coast of Korea. The conference, still meeting daily at the insistence of the Reds, is being utilized solely as a vehicle for the spread of Communist propaganda. The terms under which General Dodd was released, after having been held several days by Red prisoners of war, and particularly the way in which these conditions are stated, provide material which, with slight distortion, will serve to feed the propaganda mills of all Communist countries for weeks to come, despite its prompt repudiation by General Clark, who declared the so-called agreement is without validity.

At each session of the Korean armistice conference this week the Red delegates have devoted practically all of their discussion to violent vituperation, charging the Allies with brutality to prisoners of war, and use of germ warfare, and reiterating all the hackneyed accusations that have been so frequently and so tediously rehearsed at Panmunjom. The routine was varied slightly this week by adding charges that Allied planes had bombed a Communist convoy en route to the truce conference and killed a Red soldier. Allied delegates promised an investigation. On the main issue the impasse continues. The United Nations representatives declare that their stand for voluntary repatriation of prisoners of war is "firm, final, and irrevocable"; the Reds say they will never cease to demand forcible repatriation of all Communist prisoners held by the Allies. Under the circumstances the Allied delegates have suggested that the talks be recessed until the Reds have something more constructive to offer, but the Communists insist on daily meetings to which the Allies have reluctantly consented.

OF PARTICULAR CONCERN TO GENERAL CLARK and the high command in the Far East, as well as to the State and Defense Departments in Washington, is a statement signed at Kojé Island by Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson, USA, then in command of the prison camp, in order to secure the release of General Dodd, former camp commander, who had been kidnapped and held as a hostage by the Red prisoners. This statement, it was feared, with apparent good reason, might be construed by the Communists, for propaganda purposes, as an admission that some of the oft-repeated charges of the Reds against the Allies had some basis in fact. This statement granted certain concessions to the Reds, but as General Clark pointed out it was made under duress for the purpose of saving the life of General Dodd, and was the result of "unadulterated blackmail." Under the circumstances it was made clear that the Allies are not bound by the concessions of General Colson, who has since been relieved of command of the prison camp, though General Ridgway has pointed out that repudiation might have an important effect on the truce talks.

The principal promises made to the Reds were that prisoners would hereafter be given humane treatment in accordance with international law, that there would be no further forcible screening of prisoners to ascertain their wishes as to voluntary repatriation, that there would be no more rearming of prisoners, and that the inmates of the compounds would be given the right to organize. While these concessions are relatively unimportant the statement, as a whole, might be regarded as implying that humane treatment may not heretofore have been the rule, and that there may have been forcible screening and rearming of prisoners, when such was not the case. The Department of Defense in a statement correcting erroneous impressions arising from the Colson "agreement" said that the Geneva convention has been followed scrupulously, the screening of prisoners has been entirely voluntary, and no prisoners have been armed. There has been bloodshed at the Kojé camp, but only because of the necessity of suppressing riots started by prisoners.

However, the unfortunate wording of General Colson's statement has been construed by Reds, eager for propaganda material, as an admission by the prison commandant of the validity of some of the Communist charges. It is understood that the statement was rewritten several times before it was accepted by the Red prisoners as a basis for the release of General Dodd. While the document may have aided in the release of the captured general, it is believed that the principal factor in securing his freedom was the strong threat of force. Flame-throwing tanks were brought to the prison stockade, and troops were prepared to storm the enclosure when the prisoners acceded to the Allied demand for the immediate release of their captive.

THE COMMUNISTS made several major demands on the Allies before they would agree to turn loose the American general whom they had treacherously seized when he came to the camp in response to a request for a conference. It subsequently developed that the plot for his seizure had been carefully pre-arranged. As soon as he was taken banners announcing his capture appeared throughout the stockade, obviously having been secretly prepared in advance of the occurrence. In return for the release of the general the Communists demanded "immediately ceasing of the barbarous behavior, insults, torture, forcible protest with blood writing, threatening confinement, mass murdering, gun and machinegun shooting, using poison gas, germ weapons, experiment of A-bomb."

To this fantastic catch-all of Red propaganda General Colson replied that while there had been violent incidents on Kojé Island the prisoners in the future could expect humane treatment according to principles of international law. He said he would accept responsibility if further bloodshed occurred. The reply made no mention of germ warfare or atomic bomb experiments, and these references were withdrawn by the prisoners before General Dodd was freed.

THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF have requested General Clark to make a complete report on the Kojé Island episode and on the concessions made to secure Gen. Dodd's release. An investigation is being made by the Eighth Army as to the seizure of the general and the failure of the guard at the prison to take prompt action to rescue him. When Gen. Dodd was captured he was relieved as prison commander by Gen. Colson, who conducted negotiations for his release. Subsequently Gen. Colson was succeeded in command of the camp by Brig. Gen. Haydon Boatner, USA, who speaks Chinese fluently, and who is reported to be thoroughly familiar with the peculiarities of the Oriental mind.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Another Woe for the W.O.—The Services are going to find it tougher going to convince outstanding enlisted men to apply for promotion to warrant officer. It's paradoxical but true that the new 4-14 per cent pay raise will actually mean a larger pay cut (correct, pay cut) for a number of enlisted men promoted to warrant officer.

When the Career Compensation Act was passed in 1949, warrant officers were given higher pay than enlisted personnel and it was promised also at that time that legislation would soon be forthcoming from the Pentagon to assure increased promotion opportunities among the four warrant officer grades.

However, after hostilities began in Korea, Congress granted new and increased family allowances for enlisted personnel, which in a number of cases made it necessary for a man to suffer an actual loss in pay upon promotion to warrant officer.

Now, the situation is going to get worse as a result of the new pay raise, for the increase in the allowances will be almost three times as great as that in base pay. This, of course, will aggravate the pay structure discrepancy.

Meantime, Congress has yet to receive the warrant officer promotion bill. The Department of Defense long ago promised each warrant officer an opportunity to reach the top grade, W-4, prior to retirement, but so far that's only a promise.

What is not a promise, but rather a realistic problem, is the fact that in the Armed Forces many men can and are receiving a pay cut in recognition of a promotion.

Col. Inwood Honored—Col. Eugene R. Inwood, MC, Chief of the Neuropsychiatric Service at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, has been elected a Fellow in the American Psychiatric Association and received his certificate of fellowship at a meeting this week of the Association in Atlantic City, N. J. He delivered a paper on "Therapeutic Interviewing of Hostile Relatives."

USNA Grad Retires From Army—Col. Thomas B. Harper, formerly post quartermaster at Ft. MacArthur, Calif., a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, has retired from the Army after 30 years military service. Colonel Harper was aboard the last plane to leave Wake Island before the Japanese landed. Later in World War II, he served in the China-Burma-India Theater.

Marine "Tramway"—A device which will enable Marine amphibious forces to land equipment ashore in areas where they cannot beach their landing craft has been developed and is being evaluated at the U. S. Naval Civil Engineering Research and Evaluation Laboratory, Port Hueneme, Calif.

Designed to span reefs or other underwater obstacles which would prevent the Marines from landing their vessels on the beach, the "ship to shore tramway" consists of cables which stretch from a tower on shore to a vessel lying off the beach. The tramway has a span of 500 feet and can carry one ton of equipment on each trip, making thirty trips per hour. It can be controlled either by an operator riding with the unit or by electronic means from either ship or shore, or both.

An automatic tensioning-device is located aboard the ship to maintain an even cable tension and to lessen the cable movement.

A similar device, known as a "ship to shore conveyor" had been developed previously by the Marine Corps to meet the need for rapid unloading of supplies. The conveyor consists of a 22-inch wide belt which is fabricated in 20-foot sections. It moves at a speed of 33 feet per minute, and can unload 40 tons of equipment per hour. A prototype of the conveyor is being evaluated at Quantico.

Army Dietitian Chief—Maj. Hilda M. Lovett, WMSC, now serving as chief of the Food Service Division at Walter Reed Army Hospital, Washington, D. C., has been named to succeed Lt. Col. Eleanor L. Mitchell, WMSC, as assistant chief of the Women's Medical Specialist Corps and chief of the Corps' Dietitian Section. Major Lovett will assume her new duties on 21 July when she will be promoted to lieutenant colonel. Colonel Mitchell, who became the second chief of the Dietitian Section in August 1948, will assume Major Lovett's present position at Walter Reed.

Coastal Survey Chief Retires—Capt. William M. Scaife, Chief of the Division of Coastal Surveys, U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, has retired after more than 30 years' service. During World War II, Captain Scaife served in the Navy for three years. He was awarded the Legion of Merit by the Secretary of Navy for outstanding service while in command of the Ship Hydrographer. He was also awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service while being in command of the Hydrographer during operations against enemy forces at Guam and the Palau Islands in 1944-45. During his retirement, Captain Scaife plans to reside at his home in Clemson, S. C.

Promotions in Korea—General J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, reports that about 10,000 officers have received battlefield promotions in Korea. He adds that almost 2000 enlisted men have been given battlefield commissions.

Photographer Wins Legion of Merit—Maj. David Douglas Duncan, USMCR, photographer and correspondent for Life Magazine, has been awarded the Legion of Merit with citation by President Truman.

When notice of the award reached Duncan in Rome, he wrote to the Marine Commandant to express the hope that the award could be presented to his father, Mr. Kenneth S. Duncan of Kansas City, Mo. The request was granted and the award was made to the senior Mr. Duncan, and Mrs. Duncan, in ceremonies at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Olathe, Kans.

The decoration was awarded Major Duncan for his ingenuity and diligence in devising "an entirely new and effective method of obtaining strike action photographs of close support operations" while serving with the Fleet Marine Forces in the Philippines, on Okinawa and the Ryukyu Islands during World War II.

No Potatoes—The Navy has disclosed that its supply of fresh potatoes is "critical" and that the continued supply is "no longer assured." All Navy activities in the States were requested to utilize substitutes such as spaghetti, macaroni, noodles, legumes and rice.

Air Force Chief of Staff—The sudden illness of General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, USAF Chief of Staff, has confronted the Air Force with a quandary. There were those who speculated this week that General Vandenberg, whose short-tour extension as Chief of Staff expires on 3 June 1953, might retire before that date as a result of illness.

Here is the reason that the Air Force has a command problem on its hands. General Nathan F. Twining, Vice Chief of Staff, has been serving as Acting Chief of Staff in the absence of General Vandenberg. But General Twining was nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate for duty as Commanding General of the Strategic Air Command. Similarly, General Curtis E. LeMay, Commanding General of SAC at Offutt AFB, Nebr., has been confirmed as Vice Chief of Staff.

General Twining reported this week that the exchange of positions, understood to have been made about mid-June, has been postponed. This fact was announced in a message sent by General Twining to major commanders on 15 May. The message said:

"General Vandenberg's post-operative progress continues satisfactory. Twice yesterday he left his bed and sat up for short intervals. His appetite is almost back to normal and, essentially, he is on a normal diet. He is sleeping well. He is now at Walter Reed Medical Center.

"Pending General Vandenberg's return to duty after a period of convalescence, the exchange of positions by Generals Twining and LeMay is postponed."

During General Twining's service as Acting Chief of Staff, Lt. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, USAF Deputy Chief of Staff, Personnel, is Acting Vice Chief of Staff.

In view of the fact that apparently General Vandenberg is to be away from his post for some time at least, and in light of the situation with regard to Generals Twining and LeMay having been confirmed for new assignments, it is conceivable that the Air Force may move one of its ranking four-star officers to Washington. All official indications pointed, however, to General Twining remaining as Acting Chief of Staff.

The senior officer on the active promotion list of the Air Force is General John K. Cannon, Commanding General of the Tactical Air Command at Langley AFB, Va. He holds permanent rank as a major general from 27 Feb. 1942 compared with 3 Dec. 1942 for General Vandenberg, No. 2 on the promotion list.

Prohibit Diaries—The Army has issued a stern order concerning the keeping of private records, the text of which follows:

"Private records, diaries or papers containing statements of facts or opinions, either official or personal, concerning matters which relate to or affect the national security and interests, kept by persons serving with or accompanying the Army, represent a constant threat to the security of military information.

"The keeping, by members of the Army or by persons subject to Army supervision or control, of private records, diaries or papers which contain such statements, is prohibited. These instructions will be brought to the attention of all individuals concerned."

General MacArthur's Orders—The publication this week in Army Special Orders of a new duty assignment for General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower (see next page) prompted THE JOURNAL to inquire if similar orders ever were issued for General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. An Army spokesman said that General MacArthur was given Letter Orders by The Adjutant General and is assigned to the Office of the Chief of Staff with station in New York City.

HARRY'S ANSWER TO HIGHER LIQUOR PRICES

HARRY'S LIQUOR STORE Specializing in Services to the Armed Forces
S. HARRY SLAVITT
309 SEVENTH STREET, SOUTHWEST
WASHINGTON 4, D. C.
METROPOLITAN 5080

17 May 1952

TO ALL OUR MILITARY FRIENDS
THROUGHOUT THE USA

Dear Customers:

Here is BIG NEWS we think you will appreciate.
WE ARE DRASTICALLY REDUCING ALL LIQUOR PRICES.

Notwithstanding higher taxes and higher operating costs, we offer a new policy of SELLING ALL MERCHANDISE AT OUR COST plus a small handling charge.

However, we definitely need your support in this new operation. TELL YOUR FRIENDS AND FELLOW OFFICERS about our exceptional offer and we promise you the lowest possible prices obtainable without compromising our high standard of service and quality merchandise.

Come in and be convinced.

Sincerely,

Harry

New, More Powerful Allison Jet Engines Put Added Sting in the Scorpions

THE NORTHROP SCORPION F-89C—newest all-weather jet interceptor for the Air Force—gets a big power boost from two new Allison J35 engines.

With take-off thrust in the new J35-A-33 engines greatly increased over previous models in the F-89 series, the Scorpion remains the highest-powered interceptor in production in the world today.

This increased power from the improved Allison engines gives the aircraft faster take-off—higher rate of climb—even with heavier fire power and radar equipment.

Pilots now pack a special Sunday punch in their round-the-clock patrol for any intruders approaching our shores.

Today, Allison engines are depended upon exclusively to power the interceptors which guard our shores—a demonstration of confidence based on the unequalled experience of more than 1,300,000 hours in the air—more time, under all conditions, than all other jet engines combined.

SERVICE SOCIAL NEWS

THE newly renovated White House was opened this week to tap-ranking members of the Armed Forces as the President and Mrs. Truman entertained with the annual military reception.

Leading the parade of civilian dignitaries were Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Robert A. Lovett, Deputy Secretary of Defense and Mrs. William C. Foster, Assistant Secretary Anna Rosenberg, and the three service secretaries, Navy Secretary and Mrs. Dan A. Kimball, Army Secretary and Mrs. Frank Pace, jr., and Air Force Secretary and Mrs. Thomas K. Finletter.

Three of the top military chiefs were absent: Army Chief of Staff General J. Lawton Collins, who is in California, Air Force Chief of Staff, General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, who is hospitalized, and Army Vice Chief of Staff General John E. Hull, who is in Europe.

The large military contingent included General Omar N. Bradley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Chief of Naval Operations and Mrs. William M. Fechteler, General Nathan Twining, Acting Chief of Staff of the Air Force, and Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, Deputy Chief of Staff of the Army.

The guests were received by President and Mrs. Truman, their daughter Margaret, and the President's three military aides: Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, Brig. Gen. Robert Landry, and Rear Adm. Robert Dennison.

Other representatives of the Army included retired General Peyton March and Mrs. March, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert Walsh, Brig. Gen. Frank Dorn, Lt. Gen. and Mrs. John B. Coulter, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Paul Streit, General and Mrs. Wade Haislip, Lt. Gen. and Mrs. A. C. McAuliffe, and Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Charles Bolte.

Among the Navy guests were Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, Vice Adm. and Mrs. Robert Ghormley, Vice Adm. and Mrs. Aubrey Fitch, Admiral and Mrs. Thomas C. Kinkaid, Vice Adm. William Callaghan, Vice Adm. and Mrs. Arthur Davis, Vice Adm. and Mrs. Clark Woodward, and Rear Adm. and Mrs. Felix Johnson.

Air Force guests included General and Mrs. Jimmy Doolittle, General Carl Spaatz, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Charles Pearre Cabell, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Charles Carpenter, Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Laurence Kuter.

The Marine group was led by the Commandant and Mrs. Lemuel C. Shepherd, and included Maj. Gen. and Mrs. W. O. Brice, and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. W. P. T. Hill. The Marine Band played for the reception.

Mrs. Alexander R. Bolling was hostess at luncheon Tuesday to the ladies of the families of the officers of the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, held at the Officers' Club at Ft. McNair. A demonstration of the arrangement of flowers followed the luncheon.

Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor entertained at dinner Wednesday evening, a farewell compliment to Maj. Gen. Thomas Wade Herren and Mrs. Herren, on the eve of his departure for the Far East. Monday evening General and Mrs. Herren were dinner guests of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Reuben E. Jenkins. The commanding officer of Fort Myer, Col. James Duke, and Mrs. Duke, also entertained General and Mrs. Herren at a dinner party at which were also Chaplain and Mrs. Robert Homiston who have since left for the West Coast. The company also welcomed the new 3d Infantry commander, Col. Dennis Moore.

■ FT. BRAGG, N. C. The Officers' Wives Club held its monthly luncheon on 6 May. The wives of the officers of the Medical Department sponsored the luncheon, using May baskets and a May pole most effectively as their table decorations. The Committee in charge of the arrangements consisted of Mrs. C. B. Kendall, Mrs. H. R. Sydenham, Mrs. B. S. Burnet, Mrs. S. L. Cooke, Mrs. R. G. Yule, Mrs. D. F. Dullum, Mrs. J. Gardiner, Mrs. A. P. King, Mrs. P. V. Kiehl, Mrs. T. H. Lane, Mrs. N. H. Bowers, Mrs. D. T. Book, Mrs. R. Kasper, and Mrs. H. N. Lindsey.

A business meeting and election of officers followed the luncheon, at which time thumb-nail reports of the various committees were made by the chairmen. The Art Group, which is headed by Mrs. John Lee, Jr., will continue throughout the summer, and so will the Play Reading Group, under Mrs. L. S. Gardner. Mrs. J. N. Davis, Treasurer, gave her report and stated that this was one of the best years in the club's history in that the membership numbered 377.

The new officers are, President, Mrs. William M. Gilmore; 1st Vice President, Mrs. David Schorr; Second Vice President, Mrs. Harry L. Kinne; Secretary, Mrs. James Garrett, and Treasurer, Mrs. Carlos McAfee.

■ KINDLEY AFB, BERMUDA. The talented young wife of an Air Force officer made her official debut as an artist before the art galleries of the Bermuda Art Association in Hamilton on 2 May. She is Mrs. Richard C. McCloskey, wife of Major McCloskey, who has been stationed here since 1950 as air inspector general. During WW II, she served in the Waves.

A painter since she was 15, Mary Gebow McCloskey has been making a name for herself in Bermuda art circles under her maiden name, "Gebow." Her initial exhibition consists of 30 paintings and sketches of familiar Bermuda land and seascapes—the result of two years of painting in Bermuda. A novel example of her artistry is her painting on layers of thin glass, an idea originated from French miniatures. This fresh manner of painting gives a third dimensional effect to drawings of flowers.

■ OFFUTT AFB, NEBR. Strategic Air Command has been awarded the National Safety Council's highest safety award, the "Award of Honor." In a brief ceremony last week, Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Power, USAF, deputy SAC commander who received the bronze plaque from the National Safety Council, presented it to Col. Austin J. Russell, SAC's director of Personnel, in charge of the Command's Ground Safety program. This award acknowledges an outstanding ground safety performance during 1951.

SAC showed an overall improvement of 34 per cent in all criteria established for the award, with the USAF motor vehicle accident rate being improved by 53 per cent during the year. The military injury rate and the civilian injury rate also were considerably lower. SAC has not had a civilian fatality in the last three years.

■ ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, MD. Brig. Gen. Waldo E. Laidlaw, USA, commandant of the Ordnance School, will leave Aberdeen Proving Ground next month for a new assignment at the Ordnance Ammunition Center, Joliet, Ill. General Laidlaw received his promotion from colonel on 27 April.

Succeeding General Laidlaw as commandant of the School will be Col. Willis R. Slaughter, who was school commandant in 1945 and 1946. From here, he moved to Ogden, Utah, for an assignment at the Ogden Ordnance Depot. His last assignment was in Frankfurt, Germany, where he served in a position formerly held by the APG commander, Maj. Gen. E. E. MacMorland, USA.

■ FT. JACKSON, S. C. The wives of officers held a meeting 9 May, for the purpose of organizing a Women's Club.

The group of approximately 180 ladies was welcomed by Maj. Gen. Whitfield P. Shepard, USA, post and 8th division commander. He discussed such an organization and appointed Lt. Col. Charles A. Gross, Staff Judge Advocate of the post, to act as advisor to the group for organizational purposes.

A committee was elected to prepare for submission to the group a proposed constitution and by-laws. Committee members are: Mrs. Victor M. Robertson, chairman; Mrs. Cameron W. Shultz, Jr., secretary; Mrs. Kermit H. Gates, Mrs. A. C. Watson and Mrs. Alfred T. Beaver. The committee will serve temporarily until the adoption of a constitution and election of permanent officers.

■ FT. CAMPBELL, KY. A Fashion Show on 6 May was one of the most successful

Mrs. James H. Hunter, center, was congratulated by Mrs. Temple Bowling, retiring president of the Craig Air Force Base (Ala.) Woman's Club, upon her selection to serve as president of the organization for the 1952-1953 term. Mrs. John H. Bundy, honorary president, third from right, also extended congratulations. Others elected to office included Mrs. P. M. Boger, left, treasurer, Mrs. John D. Rosenbaum, second from left, secretary, Mrs. Horace D. Plummer, second from right, vice-president, Mrs. Norman E. Condit, assistant treasurer, seen at extreme right, and Mrs. Harold D. Buckley, assistant secretary. Mrs. Buckley was not present for the picture.

events ever sponsored by the Women's Club.

Particularly well received by the spectators was a blue denim morning dress modeled by Mrs. Milton H. Hamilton. Another favorite was the ruby taffeta duster over white linen, an "after five" fashion worn by Mrs. William J. Moroney. Mrs. Paul E. Keller in black and white coat dress and Mrs. Marco Bonsignore wearing a pink and white organdy were popular choices. Lieutenant Eleanor McClendon was smart in a toast and beige linen cape dress and Mrs. David B. Spellman won a round of applause when she walked down the runway wearing a matching white pique dress and hat spiked with red.

Among the other models, each of whom wore four different costumes in the show, were Mrs. Harold Gates, Mrs. Raymond A. Prater, Mrs. Bobbie J. Boyer, Mrs. Richard Lee, Mrs. Francis J. Bush and Mrs. Raymond Smith. Junior models were Bruce and Pamela Falls, Sallie Wilson, Connie Dempsey, Bonnie Kelley, Rodney Benner, Raymond Prater and Lynn Swayze.

Arrangements for the Fashion Show were completed by Mrs. Robert M. Piper, Entertainment Chairman, and her committee. The luncheon was planned by a committee of 188th Airborne Infantry Regiment officers' wives headed by Mrs. A. H. Wilson.

■ AF FINANCE CENTER, DENVER. Highlight of the May meeting of the officers' wives club was a fashion show held at Lowry AFB. Guests included members of the Lowry AFB officers' wives club and Fitzsimmons AF officers' wives club, as well as friends of members.

Club members who acted as models for the fashion show were: Mrs. William F. McCarty, Mrs. Gene C. Anderson, Mrs. Donald B. Otis, Mrs. Richard H. Scruggs, Mrs. Vernon R. Smith, Mrs. Charles E. Hassett, Mrs. Edward E. Toro, Mrs. Paul P. Bensel, Mrs. John A. Dell Angelo, and Mrs. Robert L. Allen. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. William F. McCarty and Mrs. John H. Taylor.

■ WILLIAM BEAUMONT AH, EL PASO. May baskets of flowers and a white elephant centerpiece was the decor for the monthly luncheon of the Woman's Club on 7 May. Reception hostesses were Mrs. Stuart H. Walker and Mrs. Clark B. Williams.

Luncheon was served at 1:00 p.m., with Mrs. Paul S. Anderson, president, presiding at the business session. Hostesses for the dessert were Mesdames Walter J. Nowers, Mrs. George L. LeBeau, Mrs. Robert P. Natelson, and Mrs. Arthur R. Olsen.

Diversion was a "white elephant" bingo, for which members brought gift wrapped white elephants for the prizes. Reservations were handled by Mrs. Hugh P. Reveley.

■ NORFOLK, VA. The monthly bridge and canasta luncheon of the Hampton Roads Port of Embarkation Officers' Wives Club was held on 7 May at the Armed Forces Staff College. Hostesses were Mrs. Frank Dalley, Jr., Mrs. Thaddeus Mirochna, Mrs. Bruce H. Grimmer, and Mrs. Melrose D. Martin.

Mrs. Glenn E. McCreary, president of the Club, presided.

A dance celebrating the First Anniversary of the Hampton Roads Port of Embarkation and sponsored by the Wives' Club is planned for 24 May.

■ FT. BENNING, GA. Two tentative sites are under consideration here for construction of a proposed $7 million 500-bed hospital, Col. James F. Torrence, Jr., Infantry Center G-4, said last week. One is located on First Division Road two miles southeast of Infantry Center headquarters, and the other in the present hospital cantonment area.

Final selection will be made by the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council in Washington.

Armed Forces Medical officials conferred last week with Col. Mack Green, Infantry Center surgeon, Col. Richard Ebbs, engineer, and Col. Torrence. Included in the medical group here 7 May were Maj. Gen. George Armstrong, Surgeon General of the Army; Brig. Gen. James Gillespie, Col. Clement St. John and Lt. Col. Frank Lawford, of the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council; Brig. Gen. Harold Twitchell and Olin McInley of the Air Force's Office of the Surgeon General; Comdr. Evan Stone, Naval Medical Corps; James Jenkins, Officer of the Comptroller, Office of the Secretary of Defense; Pierre Palmer of the Budget Bureau's Hospital Branch and Col. Walter Spearman, operations officer of Third Army's Medical Section.

■ BURTONWOOD, ENGLAND. Members of the Officers' Wives Club discussed plans for golf, tennis and sewing lessons as well as an American Red Cross First Aid Course at the club's regular monthly meeting recently.

At the meeting Mrs. Franklin M. Kelly reassigned presidency of the club after her husband's orders reassigning him to another base were revoked. This change causes Mrs. John M. Vaught to revert to the position of vice-president.

Maj. Fletcher W. Streck, long-time Flight Surgeon and Chief Obstetrics and Gynecology specialist of the 59th Medical Group, will be transferred out of the 59th Air Depot Wing late this month. He will be transferred to the ZI for 45 days of special training prior to assignment to the U. S. Embassy in Madrid.

■ WALTER REED AH. Advancement in residency training of 11 Air Force Medical Corps officers on duty at Walter Reed Army Medical Center is announced. All changes will become effective 1 July.

Promoted from Resident to Senior Resident are Maj. Philip A. Cox, Surgery; Capt. John A. Rogness, Obstetrics and Gynecology; Capt. Billie G. Strete, Surgery; and Capt. Ferris E. Cook, Jr., Urology.

Advanced from Assistant Resident to Resident are Major Martin B. Giffen, Psychiatry; Major Hugh B. McManus, Jr., Surgery; Capt. Robert Levine, Dermatology; Capt. Pelham P. Staples, Jr., Obstetrics and Gynecology; Capt. Arthur G. Smith, Pediatrics; Capt. Bland H. Schwarting, Ophthalmology; and Capt. William C. Rountree, Surgery.

■ PHILADELPHIA, PA. On 8 May the Signal Corps Supply Agency Officers' Wives' Club held its monthly luncheon at the Signal Corps Building, 225 South 18th Street, Philadelphia. The first election of officers for the club was conducted after the luncheon.

Those elected to serve for the coming year were Mrs. Clarence A. Fleming, Chairman; Mrs. Robert F. Wilson, Assistant Chairman; and Mrs. Edward E. Moran, Secretary. Mrs. W. Preston Corderman, wife of Brigadier General Corderman, Commanding General of the Signal Corps Supply Agency, accepted the position of Honorary Chairman. The various Committee Chairmen will be announced by Mrs. Fleming at the next meeting.

■ FT. HOOD, TEX. Lt. Col. Gaynor W. Hathaway recently arrived here and has been assigned as the Director of Intelligence. Colonel Hathaway replaces Capt. Wilton J. Richard, who has been assigned as assistant Director of Intelligence.

■ HQ., NORTHEAST AIR COMMAND. Lt. Col. Frank W. Hobson, NEAC Air Provost Marshal, departed for Olmsted AFB, Middletown, Pa., recently, having completed his tour of duty in Newfoundland. Lt. Col. James H. Carson, former Air Provost Marshal at Barksdale, La., replaces him in the NEAC Hq. post at Pepperell AFB, St. John's, Newfoundland.

■ SEATTLE POE. Col. Edward H. Connor, Jr., assumed command on 6 May 1952. Col. Wilmar W. Dewitt, who commanded the Port temporarily following the transfer of Brig. Gen. Fenton S. Jacobs in February, has resumed his duties as Deputy Port Commander.

Lt. Col. Herbert L. Phye has been assigned to the Office of the Chief of Transportation, reporting 9 June. Colonel Phye's former position was Comptroller of the Seattle Port of Embarkation. Maj. Louis B. Gwin, Adjutant of the Seattle Port of Embarkation has been alerted for shipment to the Far East in August.

■ FT. GEORGE G. MEADE, MD. The monthly luncheon of the Military Police Corps Officers' Wives Club was held on May Day. The Ft. Meade ladies were hostesses and decorations were in the May Day motif. Among those attending was Mrs. E. P. Park, wife of the Army Provost Marshal General.

■ ANNAPOLIS, MD. Rear Adm. Murray Royer, Chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, was guest of the Regiment of Midshipmen at dinner on 6 May in Bancroft Hall. Later, he addressed 40 members of the graduating class, who will be commissioned in the Supply Corps.

Comdr. and Mrs. George D. Hilding of Wardour entertained at cocktails on 14 May at Alumni House, in honor of Mrs. Hilding's brother and sister-in-law, Adm. and Mrs. John Thomas Bottom, who have been visiting here.

Gen. and Mrs. A. H. Sunderland of Hampton, Va., are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Comdr. and Mrs. Morton Sunderland of the Naval Academy.

Capt. and Mrs. Allen Buchanan entertained, on 12 May, at the Commandant's quarters, in honor of Captain Buchanan's mother, Mrs. Allen Buchanan, who is staying at Carvel Hall.

Capt. and Mrs. Wade DeWeese had as their guests last weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Pratt, Jr., of Alexandria, Egypt, and New York.

Governor and Mrs. Theodore R. McKeldin were honor guests at the luncheon preceding the last meeting of the Naval Academy Women's Club. The Governor addressed the members, after which tea was served.

■ CHATEAUX, FRANCE. Welfare work at the base hospital is the newest volunteer project adopted by members of the Chateaux, France, Air Depot Officers' Wives' Club. Announcement of aid sought by the hospital was made by Mrs. Donald W. Titus, club president, when members met 30 April at Chateau Beauregard near here.

Club members will work under the supervision of Mrs. Lewis W. Bond. Sewing for hospital personnel and patients will be conducted by volunteers headed by Mrs. Joseph Tucker. Members were asked to donate magazines and bars of hand soap directly to the hospital.

Mrs. Charles E. Jost is chairman of the nominating committee, named during the business sessions. She will make her report at the May meeting, and election of club officers will be conducted in June. Members of the committee include Mesdames John C. Layson, James E. Harrold, E. E. Hennlich, and Donald R. Olson.

Entertainment at the recent sessions featured bingo, arranged by Mrs. Clarence W. Himes, assisted by Mrs. Orle W. Coyle and Mrs. Roy B. Skipper, followed by refreshments. Hostesses were Mesdames Tucker, chairman, Billy B. Burk, Prentiss C. Pentecoff, William J. Zigrang, Charles A. Pressler, and Robert F. Richardson.

May events of the club will include bridge and canasta, 14 May; a coffee honoring new members 16 May; and the regular club meeting 28 May. All will take place at Hotel Sainte Catherine in Chateauroux. Hostesses for the 28 May session will be Mesdames Charles M. Dittich, Jesse L. Coalter, P. M. McKee, and Raymond S. Horey.

WEST POINT, N. Y. The late Brevet Maj. Gen. William Jenkins Worth, former Commandant of Cadets, was honored at a special ceremony held in the Pershing Room of Culum Memorial Hall here on 16 May. Lt. Col. R. W. Hubbell, USA, Ret., great grandson of General Worth, presented a plaque to the Corps of Cadets honoring the former commandant.

The program included a welcoming address by the present Commandant of Cadets, Col. John K. Waters. Following this, there was an address of presentation by Colonel Hubbell. The Superintendent of the Academy, Maj. Gen. Fredrick A. Irving, accepted the plaque. After the presentation ceremony, there was a full dress review by the U. S. Corps of Cadets in honor of General Worth. The reviewing party consisted of Brig. Gen. J. D. Sprague, USAF, a descendant of General Worth; Brig. Gen. Langdon, USA-Ret., President of the 8th Infantry Association, Colonel Hubbell and Colonel Waters.

General Worth was Commandant of Cadets at West Point from 1820-1828. He was appointed to the position by Col. Sylvanus Thayer, Superintendent of the Academy, at that time.

SIGNAL CORPS CENTER AND FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. A new slate of officers was elected by the Women's Club at their regular monthly luncheon meeting on 7 May. Newly elected officers are: Mrs. Edwin R. Petzing, president; Mrs. J. W. Raulston, vice-president; Mrs. D. R. Guy, secretary; and Mrs. R. C. Koerner, jr., treasurer. Mrs. K. B. Lawton is honorary president.

Mrs. E. A. Kennv, president; Mrs. R. V. Perskins, vice-president; and Mrs. W. H. Lovless, treasurer and secretary have served during the past year.

Career Officers Suffer

The military chiefs are worried, however, about the morale of the junior officers and, most particularly, about the attitudes of young men considering a military career.

During recent months, THE JOURNAL by means of news stories, discussions of Congressional action, accounts of statements made by top military officials and in editorials has reported on the reduced incentives for a career as a Regular officer.

Coincident with the graduations next month at the U. S. Military Academy and the U. S. Naval Academy and in light of the 150th anniversary celebration next week at West Point, at which the President will speak, THE JOURNAL staff has compiled a summation of factors which currently threaten to influence top-notch young men against a military career.

Monetary reward obviously is not the basic criterion which is used by those considering a life of service in uniform, but as the spread increases between military and civilian pay, this factor takes on added significance.

No "Catch-up"

From a temporary "cost-of-living" point of view, the new 4-14 per cent pay raise will provide some long-awaited and welcome relief for all members of the Armed Forces. But this obviously is not exactly "catch-up" legislation, since, for example, civilian employees of the Government were given a 10 per cent raise retroactive to 1 July 1951.

For a person looking at the long-range comparative pay problem, close attention must be paid to the recommendations of the Hook Commission and the pay scales established in the Career Compensation Act of 1949.

The Hook Commission, it is recalled, said that in the higher grades, pay scales for military personnel should be somewhat lower than in comparable civilian positions and this opinion was reflected in their recommendations. Nonetheless, the pay bill as enacted reduced the minimum recommendations of the Hook Commission—already admittedly below civilian parallels—by as much as $50 per month.

So, as of 1 Oct. 1949, when the Career Compensation Act went into effect, thousands of officers were told that their pay was not to compare favorably with remuneration for comparable civilian employment.

Since October 1949 the disparity has increased and the 4-14 per cent legislation obviously will not close the breach.

Furthermore, during recent years thousands of officers have been subjected to repeated threats of pay cuts. Even now, new attacks are being mounted on Capitol Hill against flight pay and other incentive pay, endorsed by the Hook Commission, after careful study.

And the morale of ground force officers certainly has not been enhanced by the fact that the House Armed Services Committee has never held a hearing on the combat pay legislation pending since January 1951. Moreover, House conferees on the pay bill insisted on dropping the combat pay voted by the Senate.

Military service traditionally has meant financial sacrifice, but with the increased maladjustment of military pay to civilian pay, the monetary consideration carries more weight today than was the case before World War II.

Prior to the war, military personnel could count on compensating factors, many of which are non-existent today.

Disability Benefits Hit

A sense of security which military officers had before enactment of the Career Compensation Act was lost when physical disability benefits were reduced sharply.

It is known that this action is of particular concern to graduating cadets and midshipmen at the Academies who are aware of the large numbers of lieutenants and ensigns wounded in action in Korea.

Prior to passage of the Career Compensation Act, if an officer became physically disabled, not as the result of misconduct, he was retired at 75 per cent of his base pay and relieved of income tax.

An officer beginning a military career felt a mutual obligation. He was to render diligent service to the Nation and in return he was to be assured adequate benefits if disabled while in Service.

The Career Compensation Act stipulates, however, that physical disability retirement pay shall be based on the schedule of rating disabilities used by the Veterans Administration. The 75 per cent, tax free, formula was abandoned.

There are 10 degrees of disability from 10 per cent to 100 per cent.

Here are some examples of how the status of officers has been lowered by the application of the Career Compensation Act provisions.

1. An officer with seven years' active service, in peacetime, is going off-duty to his quarters off-post by privately-owned automobile. He has an accident and is permanently disabled 100% on VA schedule. He is separated with 14 months' active duty pay as disability severance pay. He would formerly have been retired at 75% pay for life.

2. An officer with 19 years' active service suffers wounds in battle in Korea which, upon recovery, leave a permanent disability rated at 40% on the VA schedule. He is retired with 47 1/2% active-duty pay of which the 40% portion is income tax free and the 7 1/2% portion is taxable. Formerly, he would have been retired at 75% pay for life, all tax free.

3. An officer with 12 years' service, on field exercise simulating combat in the United States, suffers injuries which result in a permanent disability of 30% and of a nature requiring retirement. He is retired with 30% active-duty pay. Such an officer, on the average will be 37 years of age, and after twelve years in service, with 30% disability, will not readily find civilian employment; at this age he is likely to have a family and cannot live on 30% of active-duty pay. Formerly, he would have been retired at 75% of active-duty pay.

Survivor Benefits Disparity

Closely related to the matter of physical disability benefits is the glaring disparity in survivor benefits.

As THE JOURNAL has pointed out frequently since outbreak of hostilities in Korea, under present law it is possible for the widow of a Reserve Army or Air Force officer to receive as much as $525 a month under the Federal Employees Compensation Act, whereas the widow of a Regular officer receives $75 per month.

This incredible situation is known to be a considerable morale factor. A survivors benefit bill is pending in Congress, but it now seems likely that there will be no action on this measure during the present session.

Career officers long have urged that proper benefits be assured for widows. But the issue becomes patently worse when the widow of a Reserve officer killed in a plane crash, for example, often receives hundreds of dollars more per month than the widow of a Regular officer killed in the very same crash. Incidents of this sort have been reported from Korea.

Spite Legislation

Military officers concede, of course, that Congress has the right and duty to lay down the rules for the management of the Services. However, during recent years concern has grown because more and more the Congress is relying on shot-gun tactics, rather than making decisions based on careful analysis.

This has evidenced itself primarily in the practice of adding riders to appropriations legislation.

There was a glaring example of this during House consideration of the 1953 appropriations bill. The Appropriations Committee reported a hastily devised rider which would have resulted in about 25,000 demotions.

The Committee actually had not intended that there be any demotions: what was sought was a limitation on promotions. Fortunately, quick action by Pentagon officials corrected the House action before the bill was adopted. Nonetheless, promotions are to be curtailed.

Service personnel realized that Congress was quite agreeable to acting hastily on a vital matter, whereas in past years such action would have been delayed until the matter could be studied closely by the Armed Services Committees in the light of the carefully formulated Officer Personnel Act of 1947.

Obituaries

Col. Helmer Swenholt, USA-Ret.

Col. Helmer Swenholt, who retired from active service in the Corps of Engineers in June 1946, died at his home in Tucson, Arizona, on 8 May. Funeral services were held 12 May, in Tucson.

Colonel Swenholt was born in Wittenberg, Wis., on 28 June, 1886 and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1909. He joined the Corps of Engineers in 1917 and held various assignments in connection with both the military and civil works programs of the Corps of Engineers.

He served overseas in both World Wars. He is a former District Engineer at Omaha. He also served as Assistant District Engineer at San Francisco and at New Orleans.

Capt. Alexander T. Cochran, USAF

Friends will be saddened to learn that Col. John H. Cochran, USA-Ret., and Mrs. Cochran have abandoned all hope for the rescue of their son, Capt. Alexander T. Cochran, USAF, who was reported missing during a routine flight near Naha Field, Okinawa, on 21 April.

A column of smoke over two oil slicks was the only visible evidence of an assumed collision of two jet fighters, and an extensive search by the Air Force has since failed to reveal any further details.

Captain Cochran's widow, Mrs. Jane Elliot Cochran, who with their four-year-old daughter, Lyn, had only recently joined him on Okinawa, has now returned to the United States and will be with Colonel and Mrs. Cochran at 216 President St., Dunedin, Fla. She is the daughter of Mrs. Arthur Dana Elliot and the late Colonel Elliot, OrdC.

Promoted to captain last Fall, Captain Cochran was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy with the class of 1946. He had made some 50 missions over Korea.

Mrs. Sara Dunn Watson

Mrs. Sara Dunn Watson, wife of Brig. Gen. Frank B. Watson, USA-Ret., died at Brooke Army Hospital, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., on 10 May.

Sara Maria Wetherill Dunn, daughter of Thomas and Mary Chew Dunn, was born in Salem, N. J., on 7 March, 1871.

Attractive and vivacious, with her full share of personality, she was from girlhood correspondingly popular with her contemporaries, and a general favorite with her elders.

She was educated in the local public and private schools. A lover and student of music, a piano and mandolin teacher, she was at one time organist of her church.

On 1 Nov., 1898, she married 2d Lt. Frank B. Watson, 19th Infantry, U.S. Army, also of Salem, in the First Presbyterian Church, of which both were communicant members from their youth.

In January, 1901, Mrs. Watson arrived in Cebu, with her infant son—a journey of two months from Salem, via San Francisco, Honolulu, and Manila—and was one of the first Army wives to join their husbands in the Philippines.

An ardent and loyal Army wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Watson met her full obligations throughout her Army career, and while her legions of relatives and friends were devoted to her, she was no less devoted to them and always will be so remembered. Her sweet and responsive disposition, with her enviable musical talent, fully qualified her as an assistant to the post chaplain, nor was she ever found wanting in so serving.

She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Oak Tree Chapter of Salem and Army and Navy Chapter of Washington, and of the Memorial Chapel Guild, Army Medical Center, Washington.

After leaving Hawaii in 1935, General and Mrs. Watson lived in retirement in Washington until her recent illness, when they moved to Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., where their son, Brig. Gen. Numa A. Watson, USA, is on duty as Chief of Staff, Fourth Army.

She is survived also by a brother, William B. Dunn, local editor of the Salem Standard and Jerseyman; two grandchildren—Lt. Numa A. Watson, Jr., Inf-Res.; and Sally Dunn Watson, wife of Lt. Paul L. Applin, Jr., USA; and two great-grandchildren—Judith Watson Applin, and Numa Augustin Watson III; a niece, Mrs. Michael Maxian, and four nephews—Fred Otis Newman, Frank W. Newman, William R. Newman, and William B. Dunn, Jr.

Funeral services were held in the Memorial Chapel, West Point, N.Y., and burial was at the National Cemetery, West Point.

Lt. Col. C. S. Brown, USAR

Lt. Col. Clifton S. Brown, 38, USAR, son of Katherine T. Marshall (wife of General of the Army George C. Marshall) of Leesburg, Va., and the late Clifton Stevenson Brown of Baltimore, Md., died at 6:20 A.M. Sunday, 11 May, at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington. He underwent an operation on his lungs last February.

Colonel Brown served in the last war, and participated in campaigns in Africa, Sicily, Italy, France and Germany. After the war he became associated with the Louis Marx Company in New York and later and at the time of his death with the International Business Machine Company in Washington.

Services were held at the Ft. Myer, Va., Chapel, 13 May, with interment in Arlington National Cemetery.

Col. Charles F. H. Johnson, USAR

Col. Charles F. H. Johnson, USAR, President of Botany Mills and member of the Board of Managers of Army Emergency Relief, died suddenly on 9 May at his home in Passaic, N. J.

He served with distinction as a major in the Army during World War I, assisting materially in expediting the production and delivery of airplanes and Liberty engines. Promoted to colonel in World War II, he served as Special Advisor to the Director of Army Emergency Relief and in 1944 was awarded the Legion of Merit for his outstanding services. He was the principal financial director of "This Is The Army," a stage and motion picture production which contributed over $9.5 million to Army Emergency Relief during the war. He had served continuously as advisor to the Director of Army Emergency Relief and as a member of the Board of Managers of that organization. He gave unstintingly of his time, energy and means without any remuneration except the great satisfaction he derived from serving the Army, which he loved.

In his passing Army Emergency Relief and the Army have lost a true and great friend and the country a devoted servant and patriot.

Capt. Elmer E. Curtis, MC, USN-Ret.

Capt. Elmer Eaton Curtis, MC, USN-Ret., of 41 Halliday St., Vallejo, Calif., died 5 May, at the Naval Hospital, Mare Island, Calif.

Born on 7 August 1877 at Hiawatha, Kansas, he received his degree of Doctor of Medicine from the Marion Sims College of St. Louis, Missouri in June 1905. In December, 1905 he was appointed an Acting Assistant Surgeon in the Navy for a period of three years and on 12 July 1907 Doctor Curtis was commissioned a Lieutenant (jg) in the Medical Corps of the Navy. He attained the rank of Captain 1 July 1929, and on 1 Sept. 1941, upon reaching the statutory age for retirement was placed on the retired list.

With the outbreak of World War II, Captain Curtis was recalled to active duty and was assigned duty as Medical Officer in Command of the Naval Dispensary, Treasure Island, Calif. In April 1942 he assumed command of the Naval Hospital, Treasure Island. On 1 July 1945 he was released from active duty and returned to the retired list.

Doctor Curtis, a widower, is survived by his son, Comdr. Mark S. Curtis, MC, USN, presently on duty at the Naval Hospital, Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif.

Capt. William C. Burkit, USA

Burial services for Capt. William C. Burkit were held at the Post Chapel, Ft. Myer, Va., 6 May, followed by burial at Arlington National Cemetery.

Captain Burkit is survived by his widow, Mrs. Patricia W. Burkit, and two children, William C. Burkit, Jr., age 4, and Elizabeth M. Burkit, age 2, all of whom have been living for the past year and a half with Mrs. Burkit's parents, Col. and Mrs. Ernest A. Williams, at 110 Worthington Drive, NW, Washington, D. C.

Also surviving are Captain Burkit's mother, Mrs. Margaret Burkit, and his sister, Mrs. Sybil Spearin, both of Modesto, California.

Captain Burkit was killed in action in Korea 22 Sept. 1950, but was listed as missing until January of this year. He went into Korea with the 9th Infantry Regiment, Second Infantry Division, from Fort Lewis, Wash., in July 1950.

Captain Burkit was born in Modesto, Calif., on 1 Sept., 1920. He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the African and Italian campaigns, as well as with the American Division in the Pacific.

Lt. Col. William E. Harris, USA-Ret.

Lt. Col. William E. Harris, USA-Ret., died at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif. on 1 May after an illness of several months. He was buried at the Fort Rosecrans National Cemetery, San Diego, Calif. on 5 May with full military honors being furnished by a Marine Honor Guard from the Marine Barracks, San Diego.

Colonel Harris was born in Indiana on 29 Dec. 1883 and received a degree of B.S. in C.E. from Valparaiso University in 1905. He successfully practiced engineering in his native state until 3 May, 1917 when he enlisted in the Army for service in WW I. He was commissioned a Captain in the Engineer Section of the ORC 13 June 1917, served in France with the 113th Engineers from Sept. 1918 to June 1919 and was discharged at Camp Custer, Michigan in July 1919.

In July 1920 he was commissioned a Captain, Corps of Engineers and served in the office of the District and Division Engineers on River and Harbor work at Norfolk, Va. and Sacramento, Calif.; Panama Canal Department and at the Army Base, Brooklyn, N. Y. On his retirement from active service, 31 Jan. 1942, he was in command of the Engineer Supply Depot, Army Base, Brooklyn, N. Y. After retirement he established his home at Laguna Beach, California and resided there until the time of his death.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mattie Conley Harris of 483 Linden St., Laguna Beach, Calif., two brothers, Col. George W. Harris, Jr., USA-Ret. of San Antonio, Tex., and Elwood Harris of Satsuma, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. Grant Teeters of Anderson, Ind.

Mrs. Ruth Boyer

Mrs. Ruth Ann Crumrine Boyer, wife of Comdr. William R. Boyer, (CEC), USN, died at Portsmouth, Va., on 7 April 1952.

She was born at Omaha, Neb., on 27 Dec. 1910. For several years she lived at Wabash, Ind. and since August 1951 had resided at Portsmouth.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Boyer is survived by her mother, Mrs. F. E. Crumrine of Wabash, and two brothers, Jay S. and Donald R. Crumrine of Marion, Indiana and Hastings, Neb., respectively.

Services were held at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard Chapel at Portsmouth, and burial was at Arlington National Cemetery on 11 April.

Unified Pay Record

For the first time in history, the uniformed services will use identical Military Pay records beginning 1 July.

The new form DD-113 was devised by a committee comprised of representatives of the Navy, Army, Air Force and Marines.

The Army and Air Force adopted a new pay system in 1949 similar to the system used by the Navy. After two years of practical application, it was possible to devise a military pay record which can be used by all services.

One advantage of the new card is that it facilitates "cross-servicing" of military personnel. Any soldier, sailor, airman, Marine or Coast guardsman may be easily serviced by any military disbursing office.

All five services are revising existing regulations governing cross disbursing. These will be distributed in late Spring. Army Finance officials reported some of the more significant changes in the new form are:

The space for identification has been moved from the right top to left.

Entitlement to incentive pay is recorded on front instead of rear.

Spaces for family allowances are omitted, as these all cease 30 June as provided in the Career Compensation Act of 1949.

Additional spaces for withholding taxes were provided. Permanent changes in pay necessitate new entries. Entire new cards are required when available spaces are filled. While promotions generally come slowly, men in combat often move up fast.

A space has been provided to indicate taxable income and tax withheld for previous pay period. This permits immediate issuance of duplicate W-2 forms by disbursing officers, even when the military pay record for the period has been forwarded to Finance Center.

A date column was added to the Collections Checkbooks space. It is here that temporary stoppages or changes in credit items are indicated. These eliminate the need of closing and reopening permanent credits.

Payments will be indicated in a column to facilitate adding. Specific month will be shown.

Several blocks will not be used by the Army or Air Force. For the convenience of the other services, spaces have been provided for names of allottees and deposit book numbers.

The back of the card has been rearranged to allow greater space for miscellaneous information.

New RCA-Navy Radar

A new lightweight radar set that "maps" every detail of terrain and weather obstacles up to 200 miles in front of an aircraft is now in production for the Navy and Air Force. It was announced jointly this week by the Radio Corporation of America and the Navy.

Specifications for the new transport radar were prepared by the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics and coordinated with the Air Force to include recommendations reflecting its experience with radar.

According to Mr. W. W. Watts, vice president of RCA's Victor Division, the new unit permits the pilot to see a close-up of a selected area as if he were using a powerful telescope that could penetrate through darkness and clouds and can be used for these four general types of operation:

1. As a means of collision warning. It will show mountains and in some instances aircraft in the vicinity.

2. As an accurate indicator of weather conditions. It will show the position of thunderheads and other cloud formations, and will enable the pilot to avoid turbulent weather or select the safest course through it.

3. As a means of position location when standard landmarks are not visible. It can pick up the signal of ground based radar range units.

4. As a means of mapping terrain. Through a special discrimination circuit, it shows the pilot the salient characteristics of the land over which he is flying.

On a recent flight from Westover AFB, Mass., to Frankfurt, Germany, in a military C-97 equipped with the new radar, the first islands of the Azores were observed at a distance of 195 miles from an altitude of 17,000 feet, Watts said. An RCA technician aboard the flight stated that "the entire chain of islands was mapped with excellent definition, and navigation to Lages by radar was easily accomplished. On the same flight the landing approach at Frankfurt was made by means of the radar, with the runway clearly defined."

Order Fire-Control Equipment

Mr. Arthur P. Davis, president, Arma Corporation, subsidiary of American Bosch Corporation, has announced that a letter of intent has been received from the Army authorizing Arma to initiate production of a new and advanced type of tank fire-control equipment. "The authority to produce start-up quantities allows for commitment of over $2,000,000," he said. "It is expected, however, that considerably larger numbers of instruments will be ordered soon."

The advanced design of this equipment and the Army's ultimate requirements will be reflected at Arma's Brooklyn and Mineola plants as continuing jobs for highly skilled optical and optical-assembly specialists as well as precision machinists currently employed. It will also keep active the opportunities at Arma for sub-contractors skilled in precision machining and in the field of optical instrument manufacture. Mr. J. V. Stocks is manager of Arma's Sub-Contract Department.

INDUSTRY * FINANCE * MARITIME

Comdr. M. A. Mason, Head of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics Radar Section, and Mr. W. B. Kirkpatrick, Manager, RCA Government Radar Unit, examine the simplified control box for the Navy's new lightweight collision warning radar. On both sides of the control box are shown the pilot and navigator's indicator scopes. These scopes, capable of "mapping" an area up to 400 miles in diameter, receive the radar signals that warn flyers of any obstacles in their path. This new radar, which is being announced as a major step forward in promoting flight safety, is being produced under Navy contract for both Navy and Air Force transport planes. It may also be adapted for use in the future by the commercial airlines.

PX Drive on "Bottle Losses"

The first of June marks the day that Exchanges throughout the nation will begin a campaign to decrease bottle losses, it was announced by Brig. Gen. Edward H. White, Chief, Army and Air Force Exchange Service.

The campaign, General White said, will use the theme "You lose when a bottle is lost" and will feature posters, installation newspaper releases, cartoons and all other available media. It will strive to impress upon Exchange customers that a bottle loss means higher Exchange expenses and, consequently, added difficulty in meeting the dividend requirement. The General noted that, since these dividends provide funds for recreational and welfare activities, the serviceman is actually hurting himself when he fails to return empties.

The campaign will begin on "B" Day, 1 June, and continue through the Summer months.

Work on Atom Sub Begins

The keel of the USS Nautilus, first atomic powered submarine, will be laid next month at the Electric Boat Company, Groton, Conn.

Navy Ship Contracts

The Navy has awarded contracts for the construction and limited repair of two Maritime Administration cargo ships to Navy Store Ships (AF), and for construction of three AMS-60 class minesweepers.

Rear Adm. Homer N. Wallin, Chief of the Bureau of Ships, made the announcement. He said the Consolidated Shipbuilding Corp., City Island, N. Y., will build the minesweeper at a cost of approximately two million dollars, and the conversion and repair of the cargo ships will be done by the Todd Shipyard Corp. of New York at a total cost exceeding eight million dollars.

Procurement Obligations

During the first nine months of fiscal year 1952 (July 1951-March 1952), the Department of Defense obligated $29.1 billion for major equipment, supplies, military construction and expansion of production facilities. Of this, the Army has obligated $10.7 billion, the Navy $7.9 billion, and the Air Force $10.5 billion.

Obligations for procurement of "hard goods" (aircraft, ships, tanks, weapons, ammunition, production equipment, electronics and other equipment) amounted to $24.2 billion, with "soft goods" procurement obligations (clothing, subsistence, and petroleum) aggregating $3.3 billion and construction $1.6 billion. Procurement for the Mutual Security Assistance Program accounts for $2.4 billion of the $24.2 billion obligated for "hard goods."

Total Department of Defense obligations for the nine months, including military pay and allowances, research and development and other activities, as well as procurement and construction funds, were approximately $41.5 billion.

Thunderjet NATO Contract

A program to speed overseas maintenance for the fighter-bomber fleet of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been initiated by the signing of a contract between Republic Aviation Corporation and Finmeccanica of Italy.

This is the first time since World War II that a U. S. airframe manufacturer has entered into a program for foreign production of parts for its aircraft. The Italian corporation will manufacture components and parts for the F-84 Thunderjets being supplied to European nations under the Mutual Defense Assistance Act.

Gen. Badger Appointed

Brig. Gen. George M. Badger, USA-Ret., has been appointed Vice President in Charge of Credit of the Federal Services Finance Corporation, in the home office in Washington, D. C. General Badger, since his retirement from the Army in 1949, has been in charge of the corporation's Columbus, Ga., branch.

During World War II, General Badger, USMA '18, commanded the 56th Anti-aircraft Artillery Brigade in the European Theatre of Operations. From 1945 to 1949 he was Treasurer of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Scheduled Air Lines Up

The scheduled airlines of the United States continued to make spectacular gains during 1951, their silver anniversary year, according to the 13th edition of Air Transport Facts and Figures just issued by the Air Transport Association.

This annual review of the scheduled air transportation industry shows that more than 24½ million domestic and international passengers bought tickets. They flew more than 13 billion passenger miles—a 29 per cent increase over 1950.

Mail ton miles jumped to 86 millions for a gain of 27 per cent above 1950. In the domestic field, although the domestic trunk lines flew about 37 per cent more mail, their 1950 post office payments were down 16% due to air mail rate reductions from 99.99 cents to 61.54 cents per ton mile. In 1951 only 5% of the scheduled domestic trunkline revenue was from mail, compared to 37% back in 1938.

Combined express and freight flown amounted to 213 million ton miles, a 0.5 per cent gain over the previous year.

The Airlines Earnings Record tables in Facts and Figures shows the postwar profit of the domestic scheduled airlines represented a six-year average return on investment of 2%.

Pointing up that it is 9 times safer to fly today than in 1931, Facts and Figures reveals that a comparison of safety records in 5-year periods for the past 20 years shows the fatalities per 100 million passenger miles has dropped to 1.7 for the five years 1947-51, compared to 15 for the five years 1932-36.

The increase in air coach or tourist travel was one of the outstanding features of the scheduled airlines during 1951. At the end of the year, the domestic scheduled carriers were operating 64 daily flights between 34 cities. Air coach and tourist travel together with family fare and excursion traffic, accounted for more than 12 per cent of the total passenger volume in 1951.

In 1951, for the first time, the domestic scheduled airlines accounted for more than 50% of the first class travel market. They flew 10,511,000,000 passenger miles compared to 10,226,000,000 for rail Pullman travel.

Last year saw the inauguration of commutation service between New York and Chicago, for between these two heaviest traffic centers in the country, the scheduled airlines were offering 63 nonstop flights daily in both directions. Commutation type service has been in effect by the scheduled air carriers for some time between New York and Washington, New York and Boston, and San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The 18 local service airlines which now fly routes totalling more than 30,000 miles and serve 350 cities, carried nearly 1,493,000 passengers 294,436,000 passenger miles, registering gains of 54% in passengers carried, and 56% in passenger miles flown over 1950.

They also carried a substantial amount of the more than 50,000 military personnel flown each month by the scheduled airlines in complementing domestically the military air lift to Korea.

Detroit Arsenal Change

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, jr., has announced a decision to place the Detroit Arsenal under private operation. He directed Maj. Gen. E. L. Ford, Chief of Army Ordnance, to conclude negotiations with the Chrysler Corporation for its operation.

As previously announced, the Army will retain responsibility for research, development and design of combat vehicles.

Built by Chrysler as a tank manufacturing plant early in World War II and originally known as the Chrysler Tank Arsenal, the Detroit plant reverted to Army Ordnance Corps operation at the end of hostilities.

U. S. COAST GUARD

THE heroic Coast Guard rescue of 70 men from the tankers SS Fort Mercer and SS Pendleton off Cape Cod in the midst of 70-knot winds and 60-foot seas on 18 and 19 Feb. was recalled this week as Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder presented decorations to 21 Coast Guardsmen.

Admiral O'Neill described the Cape Cod rescue operations as unique in Coast Guard history. With each tanker broken in two forty miles apart, four hulks with survivors aboard were left adrift in the mountainous seas.

He said all types of rescue equipment were used including large Coast Guard cutters, an airplane, an ocean-going tug, motor lifeboats, radar, rubber liferafts, scramble nets, lifelines and exposure suits.

"But most of all," said Admiral O'Neill, "the situation called for raw courage and skill of the highest order—backed by Coast Guard teamwork."

Five of the men received the Treasury's Gold Life-saving Medal for "extreme and heroic daring." Four others received the Treasury's Silver Life-saving Medal for "heroic action." Fifteen were cited for "courage, initiative and unswerving devotion to duty" and authorized to wear the Coast Guard Commendation ribbon. Those decorated were:

Reserve Air Program

Coast Guard Headquarters has announced establishment of an Organized Reserve Aviation Training Program—the first in Coast Guard history.

The Navy recently authorized Coast Guard Reserve Aviation personnel to participate in inter-service training with Naval Air Reserve Components on an organized basis. Coast Guard Reserve pilots, aircrewmembers, and supporting ground personnel may now associate with Naval Air Reserve Patrol Plane Squadrons throughout the United States.

Coast Guard Reserve aviators and aviation personnel have begun training at Naval Air Stations at Squantum, N. Y., Anacostia, St. Louis, and Olathe, Kansas. The program is the same as that of the Naval Air Reserve. Emphasis is placed on anti-submarine warfare and search and rescue. 48 drills and two-week annual training duty with pay is authorized.

Reserve Bill to Congress

But Fate Is Uncertain

The Reserve Officer Promotion Act, promised last summer for introduction in Congress by 1 Feb., finally has been submitted to the House Armed Services Committee.

However, there is serious doubt as to whether the bill will be acted upon before adjournment. In an election year, Congress will want to wind up its activities as early as possible.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna M. Rosenberg said that inherent differences in the organization and administration of the Regular officer promotion programs of the various Services were recognized in the formation of the Reserve officer promotion systems. The Department of the Treasury participated in the formulation of the legislation because of its responsibility for the Coast Guard.

Under the provisions of the "Reserve Officer Personnel Act," Army and Air Force Reserve officer promotion systems are similar to those provided for Regulars. Unless sooner promoted, officers must be considered for promotion upon completion of the following years of service in grade: three years to First Lieutenant, four years to Captain, seven years to Major, and seven years to Lieutenant Colonel. Special provisions for crediting years of service based on the extent of participation in training and active service, and for filling vacancies in Reserve units on a geographical basis, have been made. Officers on inactive status in the Reserve do not accrue creditable service for promotion purposes.

Promotion systems for Reserve officers of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard would be based on a "running mate" scheme whereby each Reserve officer would be assured consideration for promotion at approximately the same time as a Regular officer of his service with the same date of rank.

lar officers is another instance where long-time rights have been rescinded without benefit of hearings.

The fact of the matter is that the sponsor of the retirement rider, Representative James Van Zandt (R-Pa.) now says the ban should be lifted, but his voice was not even heard as the House summarily continued the restriction.

Many in uniform feel that the action of Congress in imposing limitations on the retirement of Regular officers is an abrogation of implied contract by the Government.

For example, there are now on active duty officers who are veterans of both World Wars with more than 30 years service. Their right to retirement at their request is mandatory by law—now, as it has been for many years.

But although they have the legal right to retire, the amendment to the appropriations bill—one reason the device is used is because it gets around the veto possibility—these officers cannot receive retirement pay. In effect, these officers have been subjected to a breach of contract.

The privilege of retiring after 30 years service has long been considered a career benefit, one that was weighed against the numerous disadvantages of a military career, but the retirement rider has denied this benefit to hundreds of officers who had felt it to be a reasonable expectation.

The Pentagon is asking the Senate to permit retirements after 30 years service with the approval of the Secretary of a department.

However, it's at least a 50-50 bet that Congress will continue the retirement ban.

(In later issues, THE JOURNAL will discuss other factors which are hindering the Services in obtaining outstanding young men.)

West Berlin Trouble

offering an abbreviated 8-article treaty for Austrian independence. It is a painful period for Austrians, but they may find satisfaction in the evident embarrassment which Figl's calm courage, like Reuter's, is causing the whole Communist world.

The Trieste accommodation, effected by Britain and the United States to provide Italy with appropriate powers in Zone A (which is dominantly Italian), has brought the expected outcry from Yugoslavia (which already has vastly more powers of its own in the comparable Zone B). Apparently the adjustment not only was modest and well justified but also was well and purposely timed—a matter of two weeks before the Italian provincial elections. In substance it gives Italian civil authority a chance to take over in administrative matters (not police or port control); measuring quantitatively, we find that whereas last week there were 15 civilian bureau-chiefs from Britain, 13 from the United States, and 5 from Italy, this week reveals 6, 5 and 22 respectively. That is the local effect; so far as the psychologic effect on the coming elections is concerned, the Italian voter is likely to be impressed by the Yugoslav outcry and to recognize that this must mean the present Italian government has done a good job, which merits reward. It sounds reasonable, but until one feels a lot surer of what is going to happen in America's own political affairs he should go easy on predicting Italy's.

With departure of the 49th Air division (Col. John D. Stevenson) for the United Kingdom, Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, air commander in General Eisenhower's Central Sector, is receiving another impressive addition to his still limited forces-in-being. For the division is made up of the 47th Bombardment Wing, Light, (Col. David M. Jones) and the 20th Fighter-Bomber Wing (Col. John A. Dunning). The latter wing is equipped with the F-84G, latest in that type and an extremely welcome element, following so closely the arrival of the 137th Fighter-Bomber Wing (Georgia, Kansas, Oklahoma Air National Guard, Col. Joseph H. Moore commanding) similarly equipped and ordered to France on 22 April. The Bombardment Wing is equipped with the B-45 jets—incidentally the first unit to be equipped with that 550 m.p.h. bomber. These two new tactical wings, it will be noted, are sent to the United Kingdom rather than to their natural station in France. The reason is that the desired airfields in France are not yet constructed; that is one of the numerous 1952 shortages which General Norstad has been doing his best to get corrected, with success still aggravatingly around that old-time familiar corner. But it is something to get these impressive tactical air units east of the Atlantic.
